Pulpwood Inspection Repeal Has Support of Governor Blaine

By Associated Press

MADISON—A bill to abolish in part and consolidate in part the system of Wisconsin state boards and commissions patterned after the Pennsylvania reorganization plan and calculated to save the state hundreds of thousands of dollars, will make its appearance in the state legislature, Feb. 17, according to Senator W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac, its sponsor.

Senator Titus announced the bill is being prepared for introduction by the State of Wisconsin reference library and will be in his opinion the largest and most important piece of legislation to be introduced this session. About 25 boards and commissions will be abolished outright or done away with through consolidation with other boards and commissions, the senator announced.

- Bill No. 13, A, the Gwilt measure repealing state pulpwood inspection, was passed, 73 to 2 in the assembly, Friday the thirteenth.
- Assemblyman S. J. Gwilt, Milwaukee, the author, arrived in Madison for the session on Jan. 18. He selected seat No. 13, and his first bill was the one which was passed Friday.

Senator Titus got a start on his own bill Friday in the senate by obtaining favorable votes on the matter of engagement and ordering to third reading his bill to abolish inspection of pulpwood. The bill, if passed, would do away with one inspection board of state government.

The pulpwood inspection repeal bill has the support of Governor J. J. Blaine and the state administration, repeal being recommended in the governor's message. A similar bill was passed by the assembly Friday.

Two other cards those of teachers examination and soldiers' rehabilitation, already has been recommended for abolition by the joint finance committee, it was learned.

Senator J. A. Padway Friday moved for reconsideration of the vote on which joint resolution 31 was a non-concurrence in by the Senate Thursday, killing the Ralphe proposal for a special legislative investigation committee to probe reports of cruelty and other charges at the Northern Wisconsin Colony and Training school at Chippewa Falls. The motion went over until Tuesday.

The Chase bill to repeal the state drainage law insofar as it relates to county district drainage was passed by the senate on recommendation of the committee which considered it. The Heck joint resolution relating to the creation of an alternate justice of the supreme court was rejected by the senate.

STATE RESTS ITS CASE AGAINST ALLOUEZ BANKER

By Associated Press

SUPERIOR—The state Friday rested its case in the trial of L. D. Skyhawk, former cashier of the defunct Allouez State bank, charged with embezzlement.

The defense immediately entered a motion asking that the charges against Skyhawk be stricken on grounds that insufficient evidence had been introduced to warrant a conviction. The motion was temporarily denied.

William J. Barker, former president of the bank, now serving a prison sentence for violation of the state banking laws, was a witness Thursday. He admitted that Skyhawk had not benefited financially from his, Skyhawk's connection with the bank.

TWO MEN IN RUNNING FOR FARM BUREAU

President May Yet Change His Mind on Naming Secretary

Jardine Is Favorite

John Fields, Oklahoma Editor, Is Second Choice for Post

By DAVID LAWRENCE

COPYRIGHT, 1925, by the Post Pub. Co. Washington, D. C. — President Coolidge may yet change his mind but the choice of a secretary of agriculture seems to have narrowed to John Fields, of Oklahoma, agricultural editor, and William M. Jardine, president of the Kansas State Agricultural college. And the present indication is that Mr. Jardine will be selected.

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois upon whose judgment Mr. Coolidge seems to have relied in agricultural matters, was at the White House Thursday. There are others whom the president is consulting. He is sifting the qualifications of all the candidates very carefully and hopes that he will finally get for the portfolio the man who most nearly fills the specifications, which practically all the names mentioned have agreed upon. They want a man not so much able to evolve new theories or experiments but someone capable of administering existing laws and rendering efficient the regulatory functions of the government as they relate to agriculture.

EMPHASIS MARKETING

Mr. Coolidge puts emphasis on the marketing function. He thinks the problem of agriculture in America depends for its solution on better marketing. He feels that the cooperative movement is a very essential one. Frank Lowden is one of the organizers of the cooperative movement. The president has told callers he wanted a secretary of agriculture who was in sympathy with the cooperatives. Otherwise a secretary who didn't believe in stimulating the private operations or agriculture might interfere with and even retard the progress of the cooperatives. It seems safe to assume that the new secretary will be of the type who will constantly plunge the government into price fixing ventures and export corporations requiring government subsidies.

One of the main reasons why Mr. Jardine of Kansas appeals to the president is because of the attitude toward the McNary-Haugen bill. At the first of his job, to speak, Mr. Jardine came out at once against the McNary-Haugen measure criticizing it from beginning to end and characterizing it in the main as economically unsound.

KANSAS RACKS JARDINE

Out in Kansas they regard Mr. Jardine as a combination of the academic and the practical. A man who manages to get the appropriations he wants from the state legislature and a man who has given special attention to the marketing problem.

Mr. Fields who can for governor of Oklahoma also has had a long acquaintance with agricultural problems and has the endorsement of nearly half the president's cabinet. He has had more experience in public relations and politics than Mr. Jardine and there is no doubt that he has been given serious consideration by Mr. Coolidge.

The president, however, will make his decision after taking into account all the various elements in the agricultural world and there are said to be many reasons why he inclines toward the president of the Kansas Agricultural college.

MURDERS GIRL FEARING TALE OF HIS CRIME

Young Married Man Stabs Schoolchild With Pocket Knife

By Associated Press

COLEMAN, Mich. — Marguerite, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Todd, living near here, was stabbed to death on her way home from school Thursday. It was learned Friday with the arrest of Victor Badgeley, 29. Sheriff Thomas Bailey said Badgeley had confessed killing the girl with a pocket knife.

Badgeley was taken to the Bay City jail Friday morning and formally charged with the girl's murder. Sheriff Bailey and Prosecutor B. E. Morris of Midland co. said Badgeley confessed that he killed the child after an attempted assault, fearing she would inform her parents. She quoted Badgeley as saying he used his pocket knife, stabbing the girl three times in the neck, severing an artery.

Search for the child was started when she failed to come home at the regular time Thursday afternoon. The body was found half a mile from her home in a clump of bushes 75 feet from the road. Posses were formed and Badgeley was questioned when he said he had seen the girl alone at this corner near his place after school had closed. Later questioning brought out the confession, officers said.

Badgeley is married but has no children.

Bradley, young riding master who married Miss Emily Forster at Waukegan, Ill., last Sunday, made preparations Friday to defend against the action. Summons and complaint were served on Mr. Forster and his wife as co-defendants late Thursday charging alienation of the affections of Bradley's bride. The complaint sets forth that Bradley and Miss Forster were married Feb. 8 and that on Feb. 10, the bride's parents "did induce her under duress and coercion and while imprisoned by defendants in their home, to renounce and disclaim her desire to go with Bradley." Bradley has gone into seclusion making any statements regarding the case. Mr. and Mrs. Forster are expected to appear in court Feb. 19, for examination under the discovery statute.

Sartain, Fletcher and Riebel are charged with conspiracy and bribery and were indicted as the result of an investigation by the department of justice of alleged conditions at the prison.

AIRCRAFT COMMITTEE CALLS MITCHELL FOR FOURTH TIME TODAY

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Brig. Gen. Mitchell, assistant army air chief, was recalled for the fourth time Friday by the house aircraft committee for further questioning in the aircraft controversy stirred up by the committee hearings.

Among other witnesses summoned were Edward V. Rickenbacker, army flying ace in the World war, and a number of officers of naval air service whose appearance was suggested by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson.

Final denial was made by General Mitchell before the committee Thursday of charges that he had disobeyed orders in the 1921 bombing tests of the Virginia capes. The assistant air chief also asserted he would continue his fight "under any and all" conditions for unification of all government air services, despite the opposition of both the war and navy departments.

Under questioning by Chairman Lampert, General Mitchell admitted he had received two letters from Secretary Weeks since the war secretary first addressed a "confidential communication" to him asking for facts to substantiate some of his statements before the committee.

RETIRING SECRETARY OF STATE WILL TALK ON ROOT'S BIRTHDAY

By Associated Press

NEW YORK — Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, who retires from office on March 4, remained in New York Friday to deliver an address at a Union League club dinner Friday night, celebrating the eightieth birthday of Elihu Root, a former head of the state department.

The dinner will be in tribute to Mr. Root's services "to his country, to the cause of international justice, to the Republican party and to the Union League club of which he has twice been president." The address as well as those of other speakers, will be broadcast.

Mr. Hughes remarked Thursday night at the Lincoln dinner of the National Republican club that New York had been the scene of his advent into politics, and that it apparently was to see his political demise. His address on "Our Country" was a plea for "the reasonableness of Abraham Lincoln" in which quality he said lay "the test of our safety, the measure of our capacity for progress."

LEADERS LACK BACKBONE, IS VIEW OF DAWES

Vice President Elect Makes First Speech Since Election

By Associated Press

CHICAGO — In his first public address since his election as vice president, Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, paying tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln Thursday night declared the trouble with the country today is not with the American people but with "pusy footings, straddling, cowardly politicians."

The vice president elect said: "Imagine Lincoln, when confronted with an issue, pussy-footing around and straddling the question; and can you imagine him getting on all sides of the matter as many of our cowardly politicians of today face an issue?"

"There is nothing wrong with the American people today, but the leadership is not what it should be at times. However, we can look back on the leadership of Lincoln with undiluted pride."

The honor guest at the dinner at which General Dawes spoke was Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, retired, to whom the vice president elect also paid tribute as a leader.

The familiar Dawes pipe puffed jovially while the vice president elect shook hands with the white haired veterans who flocked to the speaker's table after his entrance. It was extinguished at the chairman's request before his address, but relit again when cheers greeted his suggestion that "we all light up again."

MAY WHEAT JUMPS SEVEN CENTS WHEN MART OPENS

By Associated Press

CHICAGO — Wheat opened excited Friday and as much as seven cents higher. May delivery touched as high as $1.84 1/2 a bushel as compared with $1.77 1/2 at the close on Wednesday.

The rise was largely in sympathy with advances at Liverpool and Buenos Ayres and on account of a revival of export demand.

Indications pointed to a big export business done in wheat during the Lincoln holiday. Besides advices were at hand from the United States Department of Agriculture that world wheat supplies at the end of the crop year would be very low.

Price changes in wheat and also in other grains to a lesser extent were so rapid that quotation tickers failed to keep up with them. In the trading pits prices frequently were a cent or more out of line with blackboard figures.

The swift upturn of wheat values brought about heavy profit taking sales and thus led to a sudden reaction. Relative weakness of feed grain soon tended also to operate as a weight on the wheat market.

On the ensuing setback, May wheat dropped to $1.80 1/2.

CONNECTICUT BLOCKS MEASURE TO COLLAR CATS AND TAX THEM

Hartford, Conn. — A bill for taxation of cats was vigorously opposed at a hearing before a Connecticut legislative committee.

William T. Fairchild, a justice of New Fairfield, declared that every pair of rats permitted to live produced descendants to the number of 259,709,543 in three years and that the surest way to limit the rat population was to encourage cats.

He said that if cats were taxed "you'd have to put collars on all the cats and it would be some job for the cat wardens."

Mrs. Ellen T. Lewis, representing a humane society, deplored the necessity of collars for cats because they would be in danger of hanging every time they climbed a tree.

No one favored the bill.

SHERIFF FOLLOWS TRAIL OF SLAYERS

Nightwatchman Killed by Six Bandits Who Escape In Auto

By Associated Press

PONTIAC, Mich. — Sheriff forces Friday were searching for six men who early Friday fled from Oxford, Ala., near here in a touring car after shooting and killing Jay Gould, a night watchman. Early reports that Gould was killed while frustrating an attempt to rob the Oxford Savings bank were discounted Friday morning when it was found no effort had been made to enter the building.

Howard McComb, whose home is across the street from the bank, was the first to reach Gould's body. He said he was aroused by hearing Gould shouting to some one and that when he looked out of his window he saw Gould advancing toward a parked touring car. McComb turned and went to the door and as he did so, heard a shotgun discharged. When he reached the street Gould was lying on the sidewalk and the touring car was speeding away.

An abandoned automobile was found several miles from Oxford Friday morning. It appeared to have been driven for some distance with the tire gone from one wheel.

BOTH HOUSES SPEED UP ON FARM LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Both the senate and house agricultural committees to speed up their hearing Friday on a farm relief measure so as to bring them to a conclusion and decide next week on what an additional program of legislation should be attempted at this congress.

Charles W. Holman, representing the national board of farm organizations and the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation, was recalled for further testimony before the house committee.

Louis J. Tabor, a member of the president's agricultural conference in continuing his discussion of the conference recommendations before that committee at a session Thursday night, said he believed specific recommendations for extension of the protective tariff benefits to the farmer should be one of the first matters taken up by the conference on reserves. Only general views in favor of this policy have been presented by the conference thus far.

O. E. Bradford, president of the American Farm Bureau federation testifying at the night session endorsed the conference recommendations.

Director of Rescue Work Comes Out of Cave With News of Failure

MUST DIG TO SAND CAVE

Forsee Two or Three Days More of Excavation to Reach Prisoner

CAVE CITY, Ky. — H. T. Carmichael, in charge of operations, and other officials who went down into the shaft being dug towards Sand Cave where Floyd Collins has been imprisoned for two weeks, came out of the shaft at one o'clock Friday afternoon and announced that the hope of rescuing Collins through a tunnel discovered in the shaft 50 feet down would have to be abandoned. The tunnel exploration failed to disclose a passageway.

Digging was resumed in the bottom of the shaft itself and Mr. Carmichael said that it probably would take two or three days to reach the 70 foot level, where they plan to begin a lateral tunnel in an effort to strike Sand Cave.

HUNDREDS WATCH
Hopes of the rescue of Collins by noon Friday through the new tunnel, attracted hundreds of persons to the cave. For a time the crowd, including newspapermen, were kept away from the operations, but when the crevice failed to develop into anything reasonable, all were allowed again to approach the shaft.

The depth of the high ledge, which was the cause of the high ledge, was about 70 feet. The ledge was about 70 feet from the top of the shaft. The ledge was about 70 feet from the top of the shaft.

The depth of the shaft from the top was 50 feet at 1 o'clock. Carmichael admitted he still clung to the hope that a cavern or tunnel will be encountered again in the side wall before the 70 foot level is reached by the shaft.

The collection was further increased until the end of the seventeenth century when the properties passed into the hands of Sir Thomas Foul, father of Lord Chief Justice Holt.

WASTED TAXES

Only fifty cents of the dollar you pay in taxes goes for schools, roads and other public improvements. The rest is waste and "gravy for the boys."

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio says the taxpayer's dollar is never more than fifty per cent. potent—because of politics.

"It is hard to secure the enactment of any law that has no jobs attached and has nothing to recommend it except its merits," he asserts.

Because the voters liked his program of economy, Governor Donahey, a Democrat, was re-elected by 176,000 last November at the same time Ohio went for the Republican President by 700,000.

He has written an article for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN that bristles with his fight against wasted taxes—waste that is rampant everywhere. Read Fifty-Cent Tax Dollars, in the February 14th issue now on sale.

Plunder Government

Herbert Quick says that the rotten spot in American politics is county government. County commissions and county courts spend millions and no taxpayer knows where the money goes. Maybe they're honest—surely they're wasteful.... THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is advocating reform in county government, with a paid county manager—a business man—in charge. Read The County in the February 28th issue.

Cow Country Romance

The days of romance and adventure in the Western cow country are gone but not forgotten. When the old trail drivers meet, they tell again the thrilling tales of the long drives from Texas to Montana, of fights with Indians and desperadoes, when a man had to be quick with his rope and quicker with his gun.... In the February 14th issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN J. Frank Dobie tells some of the wild adventures of The Old Trail Drivers.

Sin of Home Missions

Competition in religion makes the country church the sore spot in American religious life. Too many churches, or no church at all—this is the story in thousands of communities. Why? Dr. Charles J. Galpin, sociologist of the Department of Agriculture, lays the blame squarely on the boards of Home Missions. His article, The Sin of the Home Missions, in the February 14th issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, is brutally frank—but frankly true.

E. Phillips Oppenheim

You're not too late to begin E. Phillips Oppenheim's latest and greatest mystery story—Stolen Idols. It will be followed by Zane Grey's newest novel, The Deer Stalker, and other serials this year by Clarence Budington Kelland and Albert Payson Terhune. You can read them first in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.... There are two or three short stories each week besides—by such favorite authors as Edith Barnard Delano, Arthur B. Reeves (Craig Kennedy, detective), Konrad Bercovici and others.

MR. HAYS' "TRUST"
When Mr. Will Hays was rescued from the comparatively ill-paid postmaster generalship of the United States of America and ensconced in the presidency of the Motion picture Producers and Distributors, some observers were not so simple as to believe that the desire to improve the morality of Hollywood was the sole reason for paying him the princely salary appended. A few noted that Mr. Hays was a man, without the slightest knowledge of the motion picture business, but with a most formidable reputation; and that the big producer and distributor combinations were facing an inquiry to determine whether a prosecution of their firms and officers under the Sherman Anti-Trust act might not be in order. If, as these shrewd and cynical observers supposed, the employment of Mr. Hays had only an incidental connection with "cleaning up" the movies and a more immediate object of turning away governmental wrath, the former postmaster general has proved a happy acquisition. Nothing serious in the anti-trust way appears to have threatened the movie producer-distributor combine in three years. Today, however, the worm—or several of them—appears to be turning. Vitagraph, one of the oldest in the game, has got out from under the Hays yoke, or rather the yoke of the big organization whose good will asset is kept above par by the Hays name. The head of an independent firm has demanded renewal of federal investigation. Full-line forcing, the pet method of the big producers and distributors, has come in for a storm of protest—and some of it from the public, awakening to the fact that it might have better pictures if fewer exhibitors were compelled to buy sight unseen.

THE BIGGEST SUCKER?
Probably it wouldn't be fair to say that the late Tom Lawson was the biggest sucker who ever played the stock market. He lacked what is one of the sucker's traditional characteristics—timidity. He had no fear of poverty, of being "wiped out." He faced adverse fortune complacently and remade his "stake" time and again. But the rise and fall of Lawson's Wall Street luck were on a curve much the same, though in larger scale, as that of the luck of any clerk or small business man accepting what he thinks are "inside tips" and pitifully attempting to "play the market" without the slightest personal knowledge of the economic trend and the actual resources behind the stocks in which he deals. Lawson knew more than this average man; plunged more on his hunches; made more—and lost more.

The $40,000,000 made and lost by Lawson was simply a Brobdingnagian replica of the tiny fortune advanced and cast away by men of family and responsibility but of little means in every town of the United States. Here was a born gambler, a much bigger man to deal in the returns of luck, a trader with great resources of investigation into "inside" conditions and with no end of "sure-fire" systems and superstitions in the back of his head. In the long run, because the fever got into his veins as it does into smaller men's, he lost like the rest. He could not let go and died without a dollar. His life is a far greater warning to the "little fellow" than all his books of platitudes about the perils of stock gambling.

THE TRAIN TO RIO
A great South American railroad development is being planned and effected between Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Peru and Bolivia. The last named nation is now the scene of strenuous working out and compromising of freight and traffic rivalries due to the fact that it is on the natural north and south central trade route, and from it will radiate vital branches into Brazil and Argentina on the Atlantic and Peru and Chile on the Pacific. Political difficulties, doubts and misunderstandings are the forces putting off the day when a traveler will board the "Pan-American Special" or "Intercontinental" pullman at Chicago and ride to Rio as the man in Paris rides to Rome or the New Yorker to Winnipeg. The railroad genius which spanned Salt Lake and climbed the Rockies has nothing to fear from the Andes. The only worry is the Latin-American grafting politician. Creation of a comfortable South American international railroad system, which is now determinedly under way, will eventually oblige the linking of the continents by building up tourist and business demands for swift communication. Probably airplane or dirigible lines will come first. But they will only be harbingers for the treaty-protected laying of steel rails.

REVIVING POOR RUSSIA
With a telegram of congratulations from a soviet high official, and with a long fairy tale about how fast American agriculture could have been speeded up if the wild west could have been equipped in 1845 with modern farm machinery, the Russian Reconstruction Farms, Inc., is striking generous America for money. It has "bought"—or, rather, obtained a concession—from Russia to operate 15,000 acres of land, and seems to have need immediately of funds for machinery. When it has spent $100,000 getting things in operation, the prospective investor is told "there will be no expenses." Russian peasants will be taught how to run model farms and will go back home and run them. Hunger will end in the world forever. No less than 125,000,000 Russian farmers will raise more wheat than they had dreamed of raising in the past. What will happen to the American farmer when that occurs is not explained. There are other vague aspects. For example, though givers are urged to "send their checks" and told "this is not a stock selling scheme," but a high-minded and constructive altruistic undertaking, there is tucked in nevertheless the announcement that anybody giving over $40 will become a regular shareholder in a corporation doing business under the laws of New York. Thereby, of course, assuming all a shareholder's obligations in case of failure.

STILL A DREAM
The Germans have failed even worse than we have in devising an election system which will produce a government representative of the people. But in some other things, they have succeeded where we fail. Uniform rules for foreign credits have just been adopted by all the state governments, on the recommendation of a commission appointed by the national finance minister. With us, uniform state laws, even on subjects so long agitated as marriage and divorce, are still a dream of the future. The eight-hour day has just been decreed for German 24-hour industries, after an investigation of its feasibility. President Harding had to get it here by personal influence, after a whole generation of agitation. It would have been unconstitutional if decreed by law. The devices by which we made our government safe also interfere with making it useful.

TODAY'S POEM
By RAL COCHRAN
OPENING IT.
EARLY in the morning when it's time for folks to rise, how oft some old story has been told. A sleepy peasant whispers, when dad opens up his eyes, "You'd better fix the fire; the house is cold." So father tumbles outward at the breaking of the day, and it really doesn't take a fortune teller to tell a word ring world that he is simply on his way to fix the blooming furnace in the cellar. He shuffles in his slippers and his bathrobe drags behind. He really has real reason to be sore. But what's the use to argue when his wife's made up his mind that it's up to him to feed the furnace down. In time the coals are blazing and they're heating up the house. He's won. He's got the furnace fire in him. For if he didn't rouse the heat to warm his little spouse, she'd likely make it kinda hot for him. (Copyright, 1925, NIA Service, Inc.)

SO MUCH DEPENDS ON THE LIVER.
Our English word choleric or choleric, meaning anger or irascibility, is derived from a Greek word meaning bile. It seems the ancients imagined that the bile was the cause of irascibility, and no doubt there are many people today who are well educated (above the eyebrows) yet still imagine the workings of one's liver has something to do with one's disposition or temperament. And so it has, quite as much as the workings of one's heart or lungs or any other organ. But what is the meaning of the term "bilious temperament?" It means that our "educated class" today is as ignorant of human physiology as were the old Greeks who thought the liver the seat of anger. Not only do our highbrows effect the supercilious contempt for all education that goes below the level of the brow, they shamelessly and innocently grade their ignorance as though it were a virtue or a mark of breeding. It is the acme of good form for such folk to dismiss any question of physiology with a facetious or humorous allusion to "innards," a shopworn gag which never fails to tickle the risibles of the physical moron. The ancient Greeks at least educated their bodies as well as their minds; they believed a sound mind needed a sound body. The preponderance and predominance of physical neglectives in our intellectual class today is a natural effect of superficial, shallow education. Right now it is almost impossible to find a common school where honest physiology and hygiene is taught in an adequate way. The physically uneducated ladies and gentlemen who arrange the curriculum harbor a nasty feeling that the less said about the "innards" the better. The teachers assigned to this minor subject usually have no training for it; they take it on as a side line, of course secondary to their regular work. As a general rule you will find the physiology teacher teaching fishology merely as an accommodation to the board, for the board doesn't want to employ a properly trained teacher for such a trivial subject. And some of the fishology these volunteers teach would be funny if one had no concern in the future citizenship. Textbooks used in the grade schools are obviously intended for the untrained teachers, and the texts are generally replete with fundamental errors. Even such a vital subject as artificial respiration is either omitted altogether or imparted weakly or uncertainly, so that the pupil gets nothing. It is no wonder at all, then, that people entertain such ridiculous ideas about the liver and its function. We smile at the young child's faith in Santa Claus, but not at the same belief in an adult. The popular conception of "biliousness" or a "bilious attack" is quite ridiculous—unless one has the attack himself. And the associated belief that the "bilious" state calls for something which will increase the flow of bile, such as calomel, or some other cathartic presumed to "act on the liver," is equally absurd. Physicians have known for more than a hundred years that calomel does not increase the action of the liver or the secretion of bile—but the damned stuff is so cheap and people are so mean about paying their doctor bills, that we've kept on using calomel more or less blindly as a cathartic or maybe as a placebo. Calomel is still an excellent medicine in certain cases of syphilis and other conditions, but from the happy day when I dispensed the last of about 10,000 tablets I had to get rid of, I've always maintained that as a physic this mild chloride of mercury merits much of the harsh criticism which has been heaped upon the medical profession for the abuse of calomel.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Cosmetics.
Does the regular daily use of cosmetics on face and neck undermine the health? By cosmetics I mean a vanishing cream, a touch of rouge, and face powder. (Miss H. D.)
Answer—I think it tends to do so. First, if you do an artistic job you're so satisfied with your complexion that you are likely to have too little consideration and care for your hygiene and health. Second, many cosmetics are in themselves injurious to the skin and even poisonous. Young skins are normally oily enough and should not be further greased with "creams." Certainly the application of any cosmetic is at best a regrettable fraud. Still, if the dabbling is not obvious, that is, if the ordinary observer is not certain whether it is artificial or natural, it is perfectly all right. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

One would think that all the sons of Lincoln were out yesterday celebrating his birthday. Even the shipwrecked streets couldn't keep the Forts in.
We wonder who slipped up yesterday for the courthouse and banks were doing business as usual instead of knocking off. A few of the establishments in the city were a little late in getting the news that Lincoln is dead. Some got the information in the afternoon. But we guess they all got by.
With no rails to split any more, what chance has a poor cake eater to become president nowadays?
And just think, we might be celebrating LaPollette's birthday in a few years more, if only organized labor had not been so disorganized in the last election!
If it were not Friday, the thirteenth, we might risk a prediction about an Appleton man's birthday that will be celebrated the world over after he is dead. Modesty forbids us to mention his name.
If any of you basketball fans are afraid of Friday, the 13th, bet that Neenan will win tonight's game from Appleton high. It would be a little rough to wish the Jinx on Neenan, but rougher perhaps to wish it on Appleton.

Consequently the Italian returning for a visit to his parents may find himself in difficulties if he has not complied with all the Italian laws regarding military service. If he is obliged to perform this service he is called to take the Italian oath of allegiance and automatically he loses his American citizenship. The American law reads, "That any American citizen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state."
If he wishes to return to the United States he then comes under the quota law. If, however, he can prove that he performed military service under duress the presumption of expatriation in his case may be overcome. The law further states: "When any

Rights Of Citizen Not So Secure
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C. — Considerable confusion seems to exist in the minds of a great many naturalized United States citizens regarding just how much protection they are entitled to as such. Upon returning to their native countries they are often under the impression that they are relieved from any duties or obligations under the laws of those countries since they are now American citizens. It is something of a shock to find that the mother country does not take the same view.

Take for example a young Italian who has emigrated to the United States before he has performed his military service. He lives here a number of years, works hard, saves his money, declares his intention of residing permanently within the United States and becomes a naturalized citizen. He is sincere in this—he really means to live here permanently—but always in the heart of an Italian is the call of the homeland. He dreams of sunny Italy. Some day he will return—on a vacation of course. And to this end he works and saves more. He divides his earnings into three parts. One-third he sends home, one-third he saves, and on what is left he lives. He is unlike most Americans in this. We first live and then save or send home what is left. —SAVES AND GOES HOME
After he has saved several thousand dollars he takes the long-envisioned trip home. And now several things may happen which will make his return to America difficult. First and foremost is the question of his military service. The United States government does not admit the right of the Italian government to require military service of former Italian subjects who have been naturalized as citizens of the United States and have not abandoned their residence in this country unless such service accrued before emigration to the United States.
However, there is no treaty of naturalization between the United States and Italy defining the status of naturalized American citizens of Italian birth and consequently the United States government cannot offer them any assurance that they will not be molested upon their return to Italy.
What is most difficult for the Italian to understand is why when he now is an American citizen he should be held for violation of Italian law and made to perform his military service. He cannot realize that this is simply another example of the old saying, "When you are in Rome, you must do as the Romans do." While he is not liable to Italian law as long as he is still in the United States, as soon as he lands in Italy he does become liable.
Consequently the Italian returning for a visit to his parents may find himself in difficulties if he has not complied with all the Italian laws regarding military service. If he is obliged to perform this service he is called to take the Italian oath of allegiance and automatically he loses his American citizenship. The American law reads, "That any American citizen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state."
If he wishes to return to the United States he then comes under the quota law. If, however, he can prove that he performed military service under duress the presumption of expatriation in his case may be overcome. The law further states: "When any

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library
By ARNOLD MULDER

HERGERSHEIMER'S SELF-REVEALMENT
It is a commonplace observation that has often been made that an imaginative writer frequently, either consciously or unconsciously, reveals himself in his characters. In his latest novel, "Balland," the first one he has published in several years Joseph Hergersheimer probably reveals either the kind of fellow he is or would like to be.
I say probably because I don't know what kind of a person Hergersheimer is. But I am quite certain that deep down in the marrow of his bones he is an aristocrat. His contempt for "the people" is very probably deep and fundamental. One item that an anonymous satirical writer divulged about him is significant—that he puts on a different suit of clothes as many as three times a day for his own amusement, not because social obligations demand it.
Perhaps an exaggeration but it is not past belief. It would be in character for the born aristocrat. The aristocrat acts by standards that are within him not by standards imposed on him by the crowd. It is entirely possible that a true aristocrat might feel himself forced by his inward as those that is proper to make three changes of clothes a day even though no one but himself would see it.
FRIGHTFULLY DULL.
And that fact is, I believe, the key to the significance of the new novel "Balland." The book is frightfully dull in spots and as a narrative it falls far short of many of Hergersheimer's books. There are large wastes in it of discussion of politics that are most unintelligible to the modern reader, and when he wastes Hergersheimer does not succeed in giving these discussions any real vitality. To me at least they were a dead mass of words for the most part, giving me practically no living sense of the burning questions that agitated the people of the United States just after the Revolutionary war. He tells us those discussions were packed with passion, but it remains a matter of mere crudition, never rises to the temperature of real life.
But Hergersheimer knows an aristocrat to the marrow of his bones, knows his thoughts, his innermost mind. And the Virginia aristocrats, the men who helped to fight the Revolution and to establish the young nation of this continent, throng through the story. Washington was one of the Virginia aristocrats. He does not appear directly in the story but he lives strongly in the consciousness of the main characters, especially in that of Richard Bale of Balland whose estate names the story.
UPSET OUR PICTURES
Most of us, ardent democrats by inheritance, have formed a mental picture of Washington and his Virginia associates in our own image—democrats all, lovers and champions of the common people. Joseph Hergersheimer's portrait of them is quite the reverse. Most of the Virginia aristocrats would have despised most of us for recreating them in our own democratic image. If they had their way—such are the implications of the story—this would never have become a nation "of the people, by the people, for the people." They assumed that the aristocrats had the divine right to rule because they had the brains.
Richard Bale of the story stands for the type. He has all the good and all the bad qualities of his kind. He is brave to recklessness, patriotic, loyal to the very death of his class, sexually chaste and financially honest not because he fears what people will say but because his own inner standards demand it. But he is also arrogant and he assumes a tone with people he considers inferior that we of today with our ideas of equality would never tolerate. When a social inferior wears a political badge he does not approve of he commands him to remove it and on his refusal strikes him across the face with the butt of his riding whip. And he thinks that natural. Reading the book one wonders what America would be today if the Virginia aristocracy had continued dominant in America. Perhaps it would have been vastly different.
"Balland" is a capital picture of the born aristocrat but not much more.

NO LUCK!

CHURCH JUBILEE PAGEANT WILL BE RICH WITH HISTORY

Chairmen Give Inkling of Plans for Congregational Celebration in October

An inkling of what will take place when the seventy-fifth anniversary is celebrated next October was given members of the First Congregational church at the weekly church night supper Thursday. The historical pageant will be the outstanding feature, chairmen of committees revealed in their reports.

Dates of the celebration will be Oct. 6, 8 and 7, according to F. J. Harwood, chairman of the arrangements. These are not the dates when the church was established but mark the time when the state Congregational conference will be held here. The two gatherings will be made one big festive occasion, with the national leaders of the denomination and representatives of about 300 Wisconsin churches attending. Special programs also may be arranged for the Sundays preceding and following these dates.

WRITE THE PAGEANT

Dr. J. S. Reeve is chairman of the committee which will write the lines for the pageant. He said little had been done to date but experienced dramatic leaders will be invited to cooperate in this work. A. H. Weston, chairman of historical investigation, said he had found a number of published sources for obtaining pageant data. Mrs. Mark Catlin is chairman of the costumes committee and Dean Carl J. Waterman heads the music committee.

Hits of reminiscence were offered by members as possible material for the pageant scenes. It was said that the pulpit and communion tables now used in the church were made from the wood of an oak tree that grew on the present building site. The work of Deacon Tibbitts and others in earlier days in establishing new churches around Appleton was a suggestion for presenting the missionary angle. Churches at Antigo, Birnamwood and other places were started by Appleton men.

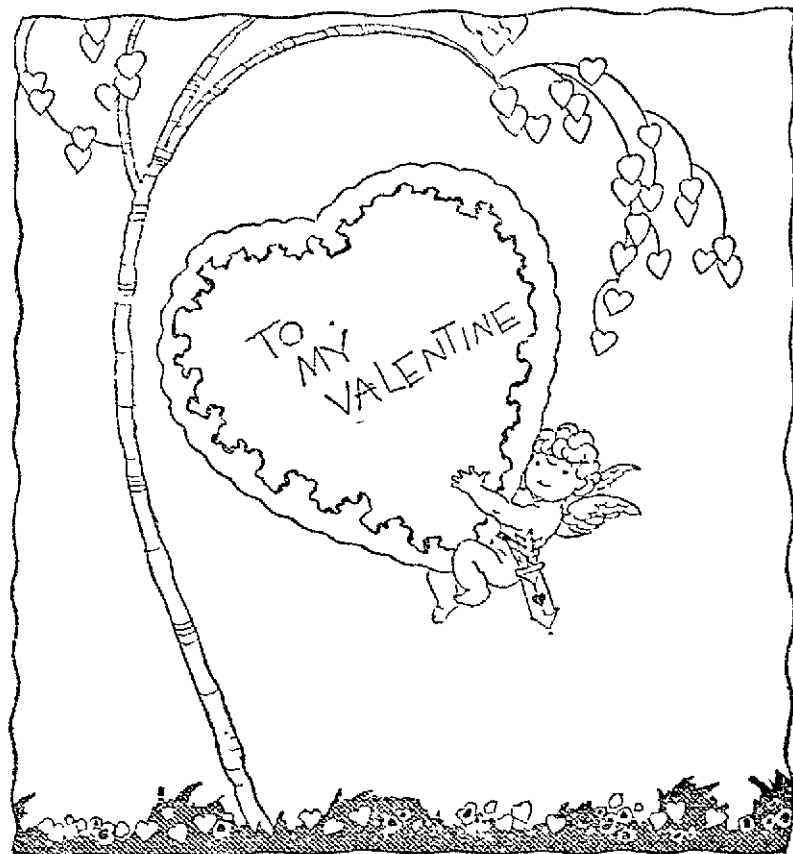

COLLEGES HELPER

Influence of the church in helping to uphold educational institutions also will be taken into consideration. Trustees of three colleges, Lawrence, Ripon and Northland now are members of the congregation. These are Dr. Reeve, Mr. Harwood and Dr. H. E. Peabody, respectively. It was revealed that the Congregational church is the oldest in Appleton and was founded almost simultaneously with Lawrence college.

Further committees are to be appointed to look after the convention arrangements and reception and also for other phases of the celebration. Lee C. Rasey was announced as the

MOROS ABIDE BY KORAN'S RULE OF 4 WIVES TO 1 MAN

There Can Be no Home Life Where There Is a Harem, Filipina Says

By Associated Press. Los Angeles.—The absence of civilization in the southern provinces of the Philippine Islands is attributed to the lack of home life and the practice of polygamy among the native Moros, said Mrs. Carl M. Moore, wife of the governor of the southern islands of the Philippines and she herself a Filipino. She is visiting Los Angeles.

"There can be no home life where there is a harem," Mrs. Moore explained. "The lack of home life in the Southern Islands, about 1,500 small islands, totaling not over 1,100 square miles, is due to the influence of the Mohammedan religion. Every man living there under Mohammedan rule not only avails himself of the Koran's granted right to four wives, but he also takes advantage of the modern privilege of divorce. Like a poker player, he is continually throwing one wife into the discard and picking a fresh one from the deck, providing himself with a continued succession of young beauties for his harem.

"Some of the marriage customs of the land-dwelling natives are quaint. A bride seldom selects her own wedding. She is arrayed in her wedding garments, frequently of gaily-colored materials with a veil, many beads and girdles, and then locked in a tomblike room, where she is guarded by some male relative. The inams, Mohammedan priests, recite a long ceremony over the head of the groom. The bride pair may then exchange long distance greetings through a barred window, but not until after repeated ceremonies, continuing through several days and nights, are they pronounced married sufficiently to set up an establishment of their own.

"When a woman marries, the bridegroom or his family gives her a dowry. If she runs away from her husband and it is proved that he treated her cruelly, she keeps the dowry, whether lands, cattle or money. But if she is unfaithful and runs away with another man, she must return not only the dowry, but twice the amount. There are very few unfaithful wives."

No danger of meeting these frocks on your friends

Even the latest of styles lose their charm if you're continually meeting them everywhere. It is the frock that is individual and "different" that gives on that "really well-dressed" feeling.

We have again been fortunate in securing exclusively for our shop, frocks designed by "Peggy Paize" and Irene Castle Corticelli Fashions of New York and Paris. While they are all expressions of the season's new colors and styles, each is an original interpretation of the mode. A new Directoire collar, novel yokes, wide hip belts, slit panels, the revived jabot, appliques of the new prints, fluting, rousing and the new box pleats—all have been employed to impart a distinction to each frock that few designers have achieved.

Visit our Exclusive Apparel Shop and view these smart frocks—you'll find they are the original, "different" type of frock you can wear without fear of "meeting them everywhere."

URGE INQUIRY TO AID RECLAMATION OF ARID REGIONS

Commissioner of Reclamation
Advises Congressional Action

By Associated Press
Washington.—Recommendations for congressional action to permit a thorough investigation of potential agricultural resources of the west, and for the work of a program of reclamation and power development for the benefit of all arid regions, were made in the annual report recently of Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation.

Endorsing the conclusion of the special advisory committee on reclamation, embodied in a bill which has passed the house and is pending before the senate, Dr. Mead called attention to a growing realization that development requires a study of agricultural and economic problems, and the perfection of settlement and development plans. If lands are to be brought under cultivation without disastrous delays and waste of money and effort.

All the changes urged by the committee would be helpful, Dr. Mead asserted, "but if legislation stops with these, the amended reclamation act will not provide a working plan for the development of new projects. The reason for this is the fact that many of the best opportunities for future reclamation are where the land is now privately owned."

Discussing the committee's coordinated plan of development under which the government would be able to purchase or control all privately owned lands in excess of homestead units, Commissioner Mead asserted that if control of settlement were made possible his bureau could go ahead with development, "certain that the future settler could get his farm at its actual value. It could proceed to subdivide excess lands into farms of proper size, could adjust the prices of land to agree with productive values, and could give long-time payments with low interest."

Touching on the future need for state cooperation and state aid in the settlement and agricultural development of projects, the report recites that the state has an even greater interest than the nation in the character of the people who make homes on this land, since "the foundation of the state's future civilization is laid in these new communities."

During the year the bureau irrigated 1,218,700 acres of land covered by project census statistics. On the cropped area of 1,179,370 acres, crops were grown having a gross value of more than $65,000,000, or $55 an acre cropped, as compared with a gross value of $50,000,000 and $43 an acre in the preceding year. Including land furnished in whole or in part with water from works of the bureau, the gross value of crops produced in 1923 amounted to more than $102,000,000, as compared with $88,000,000 in 1922.

Irrigation works operated by the bureau included 100 storage and diversion dams, more than 15,000 miles of canals, ditches, and drains, 660 miles of pipe line, and thousands of structures incident to the carriage and distribution of water. On irrigation projects were built 3,500 canal structures, and 1,110 bridges, and the total excavation amounted to nearly 235,000,000 cubic yards.

EAT MEAT TO LIVE LONGER, SAYS PROF.

Stanford University, Calif. — Score one against the vegetarians.

Meat eaters will weigh more, live longer and have more children, according to results of experiments on rats conducted by Professor James Rollin Slonaker of Stanford University.

Forty pairs of rats were under continuous observation over a period of eight years. Twenty were controls, fed a normal diet including protein. Twenty were fed same diet with protein absent.

Effect on man of enforced restricted diet in many localities during the World War has been studied, and Professor Slonaker's results with rats bear out the experience of human beings denied meat.

Professor Slonaker found that: No meat caused male rats to weigh 35 per cent less than correspondingly normally fed rat males; and females to weigh 28 per cent less.

Shortened males life 33 per cent and females 40 per cent.

Caused 23 per cent fewer young to be born.

Reduced proportion of males.

The diet given the "restricted" rats corresponded favorably with that of a vegetarian; fish, eggs, potatoes, beans, rice, celery, carrots, cabbage, bread, almonds, walnuts.

"Results show," says Professor Slonaker, "those fed on a diet practically restricted to plant sources are able to live and grow."

"This is proof that a sufficiently varied vegetable diet contains essential factors for growth. But when the rate and amount of growth are compared with rats fed the same diet supplemented with protein, we found a marked difference favoring the omnivorous eater."

"This indicates that something is lacking in vegetable food, a restricted diet causes an increase in mortality of the young and the line of decent of restricted eaters became extinct in the third generation."

Apply this to the human family. The rat is an organism not wholly unlike the human being, and limitations of diet would affect the human being in a similar manner, the professor insists.

He declares eating meat is essential to the human race if it wishes to increase its physical activity, its growth and to enjoy longer life.

Heart Trouble or Indigestion?

Heartburn, Pressure Around Heart
Palpitation, A Feeling of Fullness
Shortness of Breath

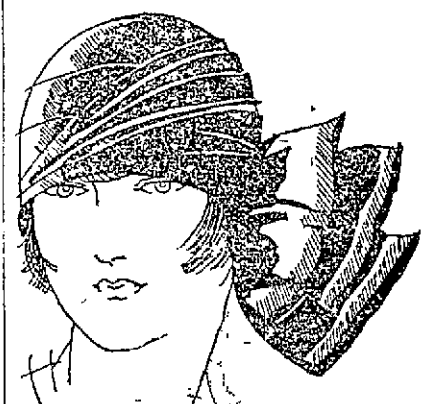

THIS SIMPLE 3-MINUTE TEST
TELLS WHAT'S WRONG

While there are many people who really have heart trouble, there are many thousands more who are literally "scared to death" because they think they have it.

To live in constant fear of heart failure is a terrible handicap, especially when probably 90 per cent of the self-diagnosed heart symptoms—palpitation, shortness of breath, difficult breathing, a feeling of fullness or pressure around the heart—are mainly caused by a sour, gassy, upset stomach. To prove that this is true and that your past worries have been a sad mistake—simply make this three-minute test and watch results!

From any good druggist obtain a couple ounces of pure Bisurated Magnesia (either powder or tablets) and beginning with tomorrow take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets immediately after each meal—and, if the usual distressing symptoms fail to appear, you may safely rest assured that you have found your trouble.

This is a pleasant, inexpensive test that seldom fails to relieve stomach distress, Gas, Sourness and Bloating—at most instantly, and a single trial proves its value. Be sure and ask Bisurated Magnesia, not a laxative. adv.

KAUKAUNA BANKS FROWN ON CHARGES ON SMALL ACCOUNTS

Fear Charging for Checking
Accounts Will Discourage
Checking

Kaukauna—Kaukauna people who have small checking accounts in local banks need not fear that they are going to be charged for the privilege. Officials of Kaukauna banks have declared that no thought is being given to the plan which is being adopted in several cities. The banks of Appleton have adopted the plan of charging a definite amount each month for all checking accounts averaging less than $50.

The reason for the charge, it has been said, is that the bank has no opportunity of making a profit through the use of the small accounts and that the bookkeeping causes an expense.

According to local bankers, too much money and time has been spent to educate the people to use checks. They believe such a plan would tend to discourage the use of checking accounts.

Horrified spectators nearly two miles distant assert they felt the jolt of the explosion which was about 9:30 in the evening. There was objection to the recent opening of the roadhouse and the cross explosion is believed to be connected with this opposition.

Last Call!

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Federal prohibition officers early Wednesday afternoon, raided the John Herres and Leonard Manske saloons on South Pearl-st. The officers who conducted the raid were Edward Sullivan of Green Bay, and two deputies from Ashland and Superior.

At the Manske place, the officers seized a half pint bottle the contents of which was believed to be chiefly alcohol, which they found in a pall behind the bar. It is expected that he will be arraigned on two charges, one for having the liquor in his possession, and the other for attempting to destroy the evidence.

A pint bottle full of moonshine was seized from a shelf above the bar in the Herres saloon. Both Herres and Manske will be given a hearing before Police Justice G. H. Putnam of this city, after proper warrants have been issued by District Attorney Otto Olsen, Clintonville.

SINKING OF LIQUOR BOAT REVEALS ITS ROMANTIC CAREER

Ship Was Said to Have Been Owned by King of Spain in Former Days

By Associated Press
San Pedro, Cal.—With the sinking of the rum ship Gullia off the coast of Northern California recently, it was revealed here that the vessel had a history of romance and adventure and was said once to have been owned by a king of Spain. Here is her history as told on "the beach."
When built 40 years ago for the Spanish king, the graceful clipper yacht, equipped with gold fitting and priceless draperies, was the envy of European royalty.
From the service of the king the vessel passed to that of an English merchant prince, then successively to war service, to a band of British adventurers who called her the Frontiersman, and finally, after the adventurers went bankrupt at San Pedro, into the liquor trade. She was not wanted by the legitimate lines of shipping, because she was a coal burning vessel on an oil burning coast.
Her decks equipped with machine guns to keep away hijackers, she sailed for Havana under the new name of Gullia. Returning from Cuba, the Gullia ran out of fuel off the west coast of Mexico. Her cabin was torn down and fed to the boiler fires, and as a last resort part of her rum cargo was fed to the flames a bottle at a time.
At Ensenada, Lower California, 35 tons of coal were obtained, and the crew prayed that this fuel would take them to Vancouver. But her progress was retarded by a storm, and again the Gullia ran out of coal. She floundered at sea, a forbidden visitor to the nearby California shores which alone could give her aid.
The one-time royal clipper yacht went to the bottom, an abandoned rum runner, scuttled by her crew, reports say.
All the members of the crew were rescued by a passing ship and brought to San Francisco.

STAGE AND SCREEN

WES' BARRY IN SCREEN VERSION OF COHAN PLAY
"George Washington, Jr." is the screen adaptation of the George M. Cohan musical composition, and will play at the Appleton Theatre Sunday. It tells of a boy whose hero worship is for the father of our country, and who practices truth telling to such an extent that he gets things belied up and has to tell lies to unravel them.

RESPECTABILITY

Warner Brothers have made a picture out of the best seller dealing with the theme of respectability. They have adapted Grace H. Flandrau's best seller, "Being Respectable." A brilliant cast interprets the stirring action of this novel which is known throughout the length and breadth of the land. They are Marie Prevost, Irene Rich, Louise Fazenda, Monte Blue, Theodore Von Eltz and others.
It plays at the Appleton Theatre Friday and Saturday.

The Toughest Old COUGH Can Now Be Stopped

Lingering coughs—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out.
Those are the breed of coughs that prove that common cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.
The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent cough is to take a teaspoonful of Broncholine Emulsion four times a day.
It's made to stop the old timers—the tough ones—and it does it with out any loss of time.
And remember, there is no chloroform—no sugar—no dope in this grand cough medicine. It's a prescription for stubborn coughs and that's the kind it speedsily cures.
For ordinary coughs one or two doses is usually enough. Visit Drug Store, Union Pharmacy and dealers everywhere can supply you.

Scene from "Being Respectable" A WARNER PICTURE

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY AT FISCHERS APPLETON THEATRE

picture which opened at the Elite Theatre yesterday for a two days engagement.

"Circe the Enchantress" was written especially for Miss Murray by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and other famous novels, and it supplies her with one of the best stories in which she has ever appeared.

Ibanez has based the story on the mythical goddess, Circe. This episode of the picture has been transferred to the screen in a very colorful way and is an interesting novelty as well as furnishing a foundation for the real story that follows.

THE SILENT ACCUSER

It has often been said that there is nothing new under the cinema sun, in "The Silent Accuser," the Metro Goldwyn production coming to the Elite Theatre on Saturday, a promise has been made that an entirely new situation is presented in the development of the plot.
The novelty is made possible, only through the astounding work of Peter the Great, the new police dog.

BUFFALO BILL, JR. IN "RARIN' TO GO"

"Rarin' to Go," which stars Buffalo Bill, Jr., and which plays at the New Bijou Theatre on Saturday is a western that's overflowing with breezy action, and the thrilliest of thrills. Buffalo Bill, Jr., gives every evidence of being a full fledged western star of the first order. He is a dandy, a great rider, a thrill performer who does not know the meaning of the word fear, and a general all round champ, whether riding swimming or foiling the villain and he's some what too, is Hawk Morton of "Rarin' to Go," who keeps Buffalo Bill, Jr., busy endeavoring to foil his numerous plots and schemes.
Among the countless thrills are the dashing to death over a 1500 foot cliff of the villain, the rescue of the heroine by Bill, from a speeding auto, who lifts her to his galloping horse; the narrow escape of Bill from being blown to pieces by a half ton of dynamite, the rescue of Old Man Harper from a watery grave by Bill, a couple of whirlwind fist fights between Bill and the villain, and numerous others.

The western atmosphere is particularly well suggested and the backgrounds form one of the finest series of western pictures ever filmed. The cast is unusual for a western every one playing their roles remarkably. The production is finely mounted and the picture on the whole rates as a top notcher in the way of entertainment with the thrills vying with the film's strong romantic and heart interest values. In making up a sum total of excellence. The story was adapted from the Ace High Magazine story "Rattler Rock," by Ralph Cummins.

APPLETON ENTERS NATIONAL FIRE WASTE CONTEST

Chamber of Commerce Votes to Try for Prize Given by National Chamber

Appleton not only has determined to win the $1,000 prize in the Wisconsin better cities contest but also will strive to win the national award in the fire waste contest of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. This city becomes a contestant through action of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce at the regular meeting in its offices Wednesday evening. Legislative matters also were considered.

A. C. Remley, president, will appoint a committee by authorization of the directors, to conduct the work of the fire contest here. The national chamber will be notified that this city is in the race. The aim is to eliminate fire hazards, promote better fire protection and foster a program of education that will make the public more cautious and more concerned over fire dangers. National prominence goes to the city which wins the shield for being the safest city in the United States so far as fires are concerned.

A request from E. S. McNutt, Hortonville, to assist Outagamie County Agricultural society in obtaining financial aid for the annual Hortonville fair was discussed but the board deferred action.

Considerable discussion was given to the tax bill now before the Wisconsin legislature which provides for repeal of the personal property offset on income taxes. Representatives probably will be sent to a meeting of business men at Fond du Lac Friday evening at which Senator Titus and others will discuss the bill. The "truth in fabric" bill also was given consideration.

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary, who had just returned from Madison, explained the changes in scoring of the better cities contest by which this activity now rests with the judges instead of the city itself. He also announced that a legislative bulletin would be mailed to members Thursday and another early next week containing a description of all bills that are being introduced at Madison.

Friday And 13 Not Always Unlucky

Friday the thirteenth, the bane of superstitious folk, is here. Even an ordinary Friday, or as individual 13, is disconcerting enough to those whose lives are directed by the coming and going of omens. But the arrival of the day and the date simultaneously is considered most disastrous.

FRIDAY ALWAYS UNLUCKY

Nearly all the peoples of the earth, from the beginnings of history, have looked upon Friday as a day of misfortune.

With the advent of Christianity came Christ's crucifixion on a Friday, and the superstition was given impetus. In most Christian countries, it is considered most unlucky to undertake a new enterprise on Friday. The nail sold on Friday also is a misfortune. The early Romans forbade courts to sit on Friday, and they never celebrated religious feasts on that day.

According to Mohammedan tradition and belief, Friday, which is the Moslem Sabbath, was the day on which Adam and Eve were created, the day they entered Paradise, and the day they were expelled, as well as the day of their repentance and death. The Mohammedans believe, too, that the day of the resurrection will be on a Friday.

A glimpse through history's pages does not seem to bear out the gloomy tradition surrounding Friday, nor those associated with the number 13. Historically, Friday has been a most fortunate day. Columbus sailed from Palos on Friday on his first voyage of discovery to the new world, and it was on a Friday that he first saw land in America.

MAYFLOWER ARRIVED FRIDAY

The Mayflower dropped anchor on a New England harbor on Friday, and just one week later the Pilgrims set foot on Plymouth rock.

George Washington and James Madison were born on Friday. Lord Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown on Friday, terminating the Revolutionary war, and Perry won his great victory on Lake Erie on that day. Bunker Hill was seized and fortified by the Americans on a Friday. Burgoyne surrendered at Saratoga on a Friday.

The number 13, too, has just as favorable a record in the archives of the past.

SUPREME COURT REVERSES STATE INDUSTRIAL BOARD

Appleton Attorneys Win Two Appeals from Compensation Decisions

Two workmen's compensation cases affecting Appleton residents were decided against the state industrial commission by the Supreme Court this week. It is an unusual occurrence to have the decisions of the industrial commission reversed. Both appeals were made by Bradford & Bradford of this city.

They are the cases of Rainbow Gardens vs. Levi Levizow, and that of the Interlake Pulp and Paper company vs. John Imm.

Levizow, a former deputy sheriff of Outagamie county, was injured two years ago by a prize fighter while the former was suppressing a disturbance in Rainbow Gardens. He applied for compensation claiming to be an employee of Rainbow gardens. This was after he had been advised that he could not hold the county liable. The commission made an award in his favor and from this award Rainbow Gardens and their attorneys, Bradford & Bradford, appealed to the circuit court in Dane county. The court upheld the award. From this court the case was appealed to the supreme court which Tuesday reversed the decisions and found for the Rainbow Gardens. The claim was that Levizow was acting in his official capacity as a deputy sheriff at the time of the accident and was not an employee of Rainbow Gardens. He may now file a claim against the county.

The other appeal arose out of the claim for compensation by John Imm for the death of his son Richard, Imm in an accident at a wood carrier of the Interlake Pulp and Paper company two years ago.

The father claimed he was dependent upon the son for support. The evidence showed the boy, then 20 years old, gave a part of his wages to his father, but it also showed that the father had a 160-acre farm, clear of debt, together with farm stock, a threshing outfit and a portable saw mill. The industrial commission allowed the father $2,800 and was upheld by circuit court of Dane co. The company won on the appeal to the Supreme court. Its position was that Imm was well to do and not dependent upon his son.

VOTE SALARY INCREASES TO POLICE AND FIREMEN

$5 A MONTH BOOST IN PAY ORDERED BY CITY COUNCIL

Amend Zoning Ordinance Over Protests of Fourth Ward Aldermen

A straight raise in salary of $5 a month for all members of the fire and police departments was granted by the Appleton common council Thursday evening following another session of the committee of the whole. This raises a probationary fireman's or policeman's pay from $115 to $119 a month, and a full fledged member from $120 to $125 a month. The only other change in salary made was the increase of the salary of the sealer of weights and measures from $1,350 to $1,500 a year.

Included in the business of the council was the creation of more arterial highways, passage of an amendment to the zoning ordinance, adoption of standardized couplings for the fire department equipment and reconsideration of a motion for publication of the auditor's report.

NEW ARTERIAL STREETS

Cherry and Richmond streets, which are included in the 1925 paving program and which will become links in the state trunk highway system, were added to the list of arterial highways in the city, and the city attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance therefor.

The amendment to the zoning ordinance placing the west 128 1/2 feet of Lot 1 of Block 11, Edward street, fourth ward, in a local business district so as to permit Ed Pfeil to establish a riding academy there was passed over the protest of Aldermen Jerry Callahan and R. E. McGillion of the Fourth ward. Residents of that ward had objected to the location of horse stables in a residential section.

Alderman George T. Richard introduced a resolution instructing the chief of the fire department to have hose couplings and connections standardized in accordance with the request of fire insurance underwriters. The resolution was adopted. The chief of hose couplings used by the Appleton fire department, while the same as that used by departments of several other cities of the Fox River valley, are not the standard of the country. A movement has been on foot here for years to standardize the couplings of all cities in the valley. This can be done by using a machine to make the alterations.

The committee of the whole was in session for several hours and did not adjourn until 11:30. The only matters referred to it was the salary question and the ordinance on the riding academy. A previous motion to publish the auditor's report was reconsidered and when voted upon again was lost. The city clerk was then instructed to publish a short financial report.

Salaries are fixed for city officers and employees as follows: Aldermen, $60 a quarter, with 50 cents an hour for committee service, mayor, $1,200 a year, clerk, $7,300 treasurer $2,300, assessor $2,300 engineer $2,100, attorney, $3,000, city physician, $1,350 sealer of weights and measures $1,500, poor farm keeper and matron $1,500, commissioner of police $800, city weighmaster, $400, city's quota of city hall janitor's salary, $750, plumbing inspector $1,600, building inspector, $1,500; firemen and policemen, increase of $5 a month. The janitor also receives salary from the public library. The salaries are for the year starting April 1.

Y. M. C. A. WILL CELEBRATE ITS TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Plans for celebration of the tenth anniversary of Appleton Y M C A. were made at the meeting of the board of directors Thursday noon. The opening week exercises were held from Oct. 11 to 17, 1915, and a special celebration will be arranged for that period in 1925. The program will include a banquet with speakers and special entertainment each day. The committee in charge of the celebration consists of W. S. Smith, J. N. Fisher, H. W. Russell and A. R. Eads.

The budget for 1915 as submitted by the budget committee was adopted and reports of the employed officers and standing committees were read. The plan of placing pictures of well known association men, both local and national, in the directors room, which was presented by George R. Werner general secretary, was accepted by the board.

WILL SOMEONE PLEASE HELP FRANK LILLY OUT EMBARRASSING POSITION

Out of a job and out of clothes is the embarrassing position in which Frank Lilly, lodged in the county jail finds himself. Lilly, in company with a state inspector, left Thursday for Oneida where he understood a job was open. On his way he lost his clothes, contained in a grip, and when he reached his destination he found reports of a vacancy were false.

Frank is back in jail now and unless someone finds his clothing, which was lost on the Ridge-road between Appleton and Green Bay, he might have to resort to the immortalized barrel.

GASOLINE PRICES JUMP TWO CENTS

A raise of 2 cents a gallon for gasoline and 1 cent per gallon for kerosene was announced Friday morning by all oil companies operating in Appleton. This is the fourth raise in gasoline prices in less than a month, the total raise in that time being 5 cents. Furnace oil remained at the same level. Filling station prices for the De Baufert, Standard and Deep Rock oil companies rose to 20 1/2 c. for low test gas and 23 1/2 c. for high test. Wadham's prices are 20 1/2 c. for low test and 25 c. for high test. De Baufert Benzol is selling at 25 1/2 c. per gallon. Pipe wagon prices for kerosene are 11 1/2 c. and 15 c. per gallon for Standard, Deep Rock and Wadham's, while De Baufert prices are 12 1/2 c. and 15 1/2 c. per gallon. The 15 1/2 c. kerosene is Pennsylvania brand.

ASSEMBLYMAN WOULD ABOLISH STATE JOB HELD BY BALLARD

Madison.—Duties of the treasury department, which enforce the Wisconsin statutes regulating hawkers, peddlers, transient merchants and public showmen, would be placed in the hands of the state treasurer after July 1, 1925, under a bill introduced in the assembly by Frank L. Prescott, of Milwaukee. The office of state treasury agent, now held by C. B. Ballard of Appleton, would be abolished, the state treasurer acting as treasury agent. Mr. Ballard recently made public a statement of the operation of his department, showing that $91,644 had been turned into the treasury above the cost of administration of the office during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924. Fees amounted to $74,385 were received and the administration expenses were $12,744, the report stated.

WANTS STATE BOARD TO RULE LOAN CLUBS

Madison, Wis.—Building and loan associations in Wisconsin would be under the jurisdiction of a state building and loan commission created by a bill introduced into the assembly by B. Z. Glass of Milwaukee. Power and duties regarding building and loan associations now handled by the commissioner of banking would devolve upon the proposed new commission. The commissioner of the new department would be appointed by the governor at an annual salary of $5,000. The measure also provides new regulations for building and loan associations, including the payment by each association of $70 annually. Each association would pay further 8 cents per thousand for the first million dollars or fraction of stock, 7 cents per thousand for second and third million.

6 cents per thousand for the fourth and fifth million. 5 cents per thousand for the sixth million and all above. The amount collected from the associations may be varied by the commissioner as the expenses of the department warrant.

Was She a Fool?

To satisfy her parents, Evelyn became engaged to Eugene. But she was not happy. In her eyes, Eugene was too perfect, too gentle and gravely correct. The ideal lover she dreamed of had in him something of the savage. She pictured him as big, virile, masterful, brave. Then in the black, frozen wastes of Alaska, a devil, disguised as Evelyn's ideal of a "man", came into her life. Followed a drama of elemental passion, fierce hate and fierce love that was to test Eugene's manhood to the limit and try Evelyn's very soul. The outcome is as thrilling as it is unexpected. Evelyn tells the story under the title of "The Primitive Lover." Read it in True Story Magazine for March.

LINCOLN GREATEST MAN SINCE CHRIST. DR. HOLMES SAYS

Stirring Address Is Given at Meeting of Veterans of Two Wars

Lincoln was one of the most wonderful figures on earth since Christ, according to Dr. E. A. Holmes who was the speaker at the Lincoln Birthday celebration of the George D. Eggleston Post of Grand Army of the Republic and Charles O. Baer Camp of Spanish-American War Veterans, Thursday afternoon at Hotel Northern. The talk was the feature of a fine program during which music was rendered by an old-time fife and drum corps. A letter was read from John M. Baer of the Eggleston Post, regretting that he was unable to be present. Mr. Baer is the father of Charles O. Baer and was the first Civil War veteran to become an honorary member of the Baer camp of Spanish-American War Veterans. Members of the Eggleston Post recently voted honorary membership in their group to the Baer camp and the compliment was returned at the celebration. Two members of the G. A. R. who were present from Neenah were included in the honorary membership. Four of the members of the Eggleston Post were present at the surrender of Gen. Lee at Appomattox, according to a rising census. A picture of the entire group at the meeting was taken and each organization will be presented to the other. The meeting was followed by a smoke and get-together of the veterans. Fred R. Morris, commander of the Baer camp, acted as toastmaster.

REPRODUCE PLAY

The third act of the play, "Abraham Lincoln," by John Drinkwater was presented by a group of Appleton men. J. F. Baunister took the part of Abraham Lincoln. Other members of the cast were J. E. Murphy, Gen. Grant; George Dame, Gen. Lee; Alois Lettchen, Gen. Meade; Max Bauer, a Lieutenant; Clarence Weiss, the boy.

Although Lincoln was not divine as was Christ, he was the greatest leader since the Saviour, Dr. Holmes said. The hand of God is noted in several distinct places in history and Lincoln was ordained by God for the wonderful leadership that he displayed at a time when it was needed most. No other man could have been so successful at that time as Abraham Lincoln. No man is ever recognized as great in his own generation, but people of today are far enough removed to properly establish the greatness of Lincoln, Dr. Holmes declared. Dr. Holmes then read a poem on Lincoln written by Capt. Jack Crawford, known as the poet scout of the Civil War and regarded as one of Lincoln's closest friends, which compared him with Christ as a martyr to a cause and a courageous leader.

SON OF COMMON PEOPLE

The period in which Lincoln was born was graphically described by Dr. Holmes. He said Lincoln was born in a log cabin in the backwoods in the midst of poverty of the worst sort. He was a representative more than any other man in history of the common people and peasantry and stood out as America's greatest son. While all national crises bring out great leaders, none of the other crises of this country have developed a greater leader than Abraham Lincoln. The country has known other great men such as George Washington, but while Washington was known for what he did, Lincoln was known for what he was. He is pictured as the schoolboy of the Illinois woods rather than the president of a great nation, the boy writing his lessons on a shingle before a fire rather than a prominent lawyer. These characteristics of Lincoln's are the symbol of potential possibilities that lie before any American boy or girl, Dr. Holmes said.

Though Lincoln was great in many ways his greatest characteristic was that he always remained human. This characteristic, which was shown

All through his life, was what made him great. He was kind and always approachable by the most humble. He did not care what happened to him as long as his country was victorious and he desired victory with the least possible bloodshed and injury to either of the factions, Dr. Holmes declared.

Dr. Holmes listed the leaders of critical periods from ancient days to the present time and declared that great leaders come to all countries at certain times as the ordained men. There is one above all these other leaders, the greatest of mere men that the world has ever known, a man who stands at the top of all the great leaders of all periods, a man who went to Washington and seized the country the two rims and held it together by his sheer personality when the greatest help was needed, and that man was Abraham Lincoln, Dr. Holmes said in closing.

Dr. Holmes then read a poem on Lincoln written by Capt. Jack Crawford, known as the poet scout of the Civil War and regarded as one of Lincoln's closest friends, which compared him with Christ as a martyr to a cause and a courageous leader.

CONFUSE U. S. AND STATE INCOME TAX

State Assessor Finds Many Taxpayers Mixed Up on Tax Laws

Further confusion of the state income tax requirements with those of the federal tax is reported by Leo J. Torman, assessor of incomes. Returns being received daily at his office indicate that some taxpayers not only confuse the amount of taxable income and the exemption allowed, but also are mistaken on the deductible income.

City, county and state employees need not file a federal income tax return, as they are exempt from the tax, but they are required to file a state income tax report. On the other hand, federal employees are exempt from the state income tax, but must file a federal income tax return.

Mistakes also are made in reporting the income from government bonds. While municipal bonds are not taxable by the federal income tax, they are taxable under the state income tax law. Liberty loans, however, are taxable neither by state or federal income tax.

The assessor also reminds taxpayers that the exemption allowed by the state income tax is $500 for single persons, $1,200 for married persons and $200 on each child or dependent, while the federal tax allows exemption of $1,000 for single persons, $2,500 for married persons and $400 on each child and dependent.

BIG AUDIENCE HEARS ZIEGLER AT FORT WAYNE

An audience of 300 greeted G. D. Ziegler, president of the Aid Association for Lutherans, when he spoke at Fort Wayne, Ind., at the annual banquet of branches of the association in that city and vicinity. Mr. Ziegler became ill on his return home but was able to be at his office Thursday. His address was on the New Philosophy of Success. He told the members that success of the aid association lay not only in the huge total of its membership and the amount of its wealth but in the service it renders in providing funds for the sick and disabled and in assisting the widows and their families through insurance policies.

Mr. Ziegler was the guest at Fort Wayne of Albert Scheumann, a member of the board of directors who comes here regularly for the board meetings.

Federal Income Tax

Bad debts may be deducted from gross income in computing net income only for the year in which they are ascertained to be worthless, and charged off the books of the taxpayer. The necessity for this provision of the law is obvious. If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction without requirement that it be charged off the books, the certainty of its worthlessness would be left open to question. If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction in the year in which charged off, without regard to when it was ascertained to be worthless, such charges could be unduly accumulated.

The taxpayer should attach to his return a statement showing the propriety of any deduction claimed for a bad debt. Where the surrounding circumstances show that a debt is worthless and uncollectible and that legal action, in all probability, would not avail, proof of these facts is sufficient evidence of its worthlessness.

The difference between the face value of a note and the amount received in compromise is an allowable deduction, provided the debtor has no assets out of which the entire amount may be collected by suit. However, where the debt is compromised, the debtor having assets out of which the entire amount could have been collected through legal action, the difference between the amount received in compromise and the amount claimed, whether admitted or disputed, is not an allowable deduction as a bad debt.

Unpaid loans made to needy relatives with little or no expectation of their return are not deductible, but are regarded as gifts. Where a creditor continues to extend credit to a debtor, a debt may not be charged off as worthless. If a debt is forgiven it can not be claimed, as it is then regarded as a gift, which is not an allowable deduction. A valid debt proved to be worthless is not always a proper deduction. For example, unpaid amounts representing wages, salaries, rentals, or similar items of taxable income are not allowed as deductions unless included in the creditor's return for the year in which such deduction is sought or in a previous year. The fact that expected income was not received does not decrease the amount of taxable income.

Mainstay of Home Denied Life Sweets

BY CYNTHIA GREY
I often look at Christine Scott and think what a lot of waste she represents.
For Christine is almost 40 now, and of course she'll never marry and be the mother whom Nature intended her to be.
Christine is the only girl in a family of ne'er-do-well sons. She's tall and deep-bodied. And she has the loveliest smile and the bluest eyes I ever saw. She teaches in a private kindergarten, and she says frankly that she wishes all the children in it were boys.
Christine is a good teacher, but she's a better housekeeper. And she prepares the clear soup and thin toast that is the principal diet of old Mrs. Scott, her invalid mother, too.
For years Christine has lifted the frail old lady from her bed to the arm-chair at the window every morning and back again at night. Somehow, it has never occurred to any of the five stalwart sons to help Christine with this work.
Of course, Ben Scott, the oldest, is seldom at the house. He and his wife have a cottage next door, and they always have Sunday dinner and Thursday night's supper with Christine.
"I'll tell you a secret," Christine said to me about a year ago. "I'm going to be plain soon. I'm putting every cent I have into Ben's factory. He's going to make airplane parts."
"Oh, Christine, your good government bonds!" I said dubiously.
All his life Ben had been a failure. In a few months Christine's money was gone.
Then about a month ago, she told me another secret.
"Would you believe it! Dr. Forbes wants to marry me," she said. Dr. Forbes is the best baby doctor in our town.
"Of course, I'd believe it," I answered. "You're a mighty attractive woman. When is the wedding? May I please be matron of honor?"
Christine laughed but without mirth.
"How can I marry?" she said, throwing out her beautiful capable hands. "Who'd take care of my little mother?"
"Your father and your brothers and Ben's wife," I replied promptly.
She smiled bitterly. "No," she said. "I'd have to take mother with me. And that would mean father and the boys too. No man wants to marry his wife's family. And Ben would always be asking Dr. Forbes to put money into his get-rich-quick schemes. I'd die of shame."
That was the only time I ever heard Christine tell the truth about her family's shortcomings. And I have known her for 20 years.
But I suppose that even the patience of a saint wears out occasionally when she realizes that she has been denied everything good and sweet in life in order that she may be the midstay of a selfish family. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service Inc.)

"Tarnish" With Coleman Another Problem Play

RONALD COLMAN AND MAY MCAVOY

Hollywood.—A girl whose own father, life-long roue, makes her reluctant to marry the man she loves in the fear that he might turn out of the same stripe—such is the story of "Tarnish."
She sees the old man as a portent of the young she and her mother have been bitterly victimized by the aged hedonist, a thoroughly irresponsible creature of the type known among all women as "an old fool."
Her suitor is already "tarnished," as the monogamist refers to anyone whose sex experiences antedate the first marriage. But genuine love in his own eyes, has refashioned him. And the girl, too, is inclined so to evaluate him until the rivalry of a former innamorata brings doubt.
"Tarnish," screened from the Emory stage play by George Fitzmaurice, is not the conventional problem play, but it contains the essence of most problem plays—the conflict arising from the double standard, which the modern woman is seriously trying to efface.
Woman's marital problem so long as the dual standard persists is as a minor character in the play expresses it. "To find among tarnished men one who can be easily cleaned."
The film is done with close fidelity to the original in the adaptation made by Frances Marion. It is more intimate and more than most of the pictures directed by George Fitzmaurice. And it is exceptional for its fine characterization in the roles done by Ronald Colman, May McAvoy, Marie Prevost and Albert Gran.
Colman who first loomed up with Lillian Gish in "The White Sister," brings keen understanding and fine acting to his part. Colman's parting has a haunting quality. Adroitly he shades the anxiety to a sure and wins the girl he wants to marry blending with it a politeness toward his old flame which gets him many difficulties. This role in "Tarnish" won him a five-year contract with Samuel Goldwyn.
Marie Prevost is a step below her best performance in "Dress of Lubitsch," but gives a consistent and fine study of the monogamist the kind of professional hand holder who "never has any change." She is hard-boiled utterly selfish but almost virtuous in her fierce passion for the man who has dignified him self beyond her reach.
May McAvoy is given a rather colorless role that of the daughter who perceives every evil and pines for a better life.
Anyone should suppose that my husband will never travel any more."
"But what will you do with the shop, Mrs. Burke?" she asked.
An implicit desire to give her something to gossip about made me an answer.
"Oh, I'll stay here and take care of it" (as if the shop meant anything to me beside Walter's desire).
I wish you could have seen that woman's face Leslie! She was sure my honeymoon was already over and I expected it will be all over Albany that Mr. and Mrs. Burke are not as happy as people think they are and perhaps poor Mr. Ellington was not worthy to blame etc etc.
She managed to ask me one more question however. "Do you mean Mrs. Burke, you would let that hand some husband of yours go off on one of his trips alone?"
"Why not?" I asked in turn. "I think a vacation for married people is absolutely necessary."
The women was so flabbergasted she could not answer for a moment then she said "Well, you know happily married people seldom do those things," and hurriedly left the store.

Signs Of Spring In Style World

New York.—Let's have it in black and white is a suggestion not confined to business men. One of the most attractive costumes seen on Fifth Avenue today was a black suit with short double breasted coat, with pockets, collar and cuffs trimmed with white. With this was worn a white silk blouse, a black tie, a black scarf and a black and white hat.
The day of the ruffle has passed so far as gloves are concerned. The new French hand coverings either have a straight cuff or are turned back flat over the wrist and hand. In the latter case the cuffs are heavily embroidered.
You Must Have a Jabot
When it comes to silk frocks, the straight line may now be defined as the shortest distance between the jabot at the top and the plain flounce or flare at the bottom. The Vogue for the jabot has been taken up in staidness and a few of the new frocks lack this trimming.
The stout person has to step in nowdays before she steps out. Most of them step in to a one piece elastic corset. The latest of these are cut away sharply at the sides and back but extend high in front to support the diaphragm. The $7.95 corset so even the extremely stout can be accommodated.
Flowers on Top
London.—Flowers grow in strange places so far as millinery is concerned. The rather high crowned small hats of pique or milan braids are shaped a good deal like the Suffolks. They have a small bow at the back and a cluster of flowers apparently growing directly from the top. Flowers and feathers continue the favorite trimmings.
High suede Russan walking boots are coming back into fashion. Many of the most striking examples have ostrich plumes at the tops of the boots.
Fris.—One or two of the more prominent designers are already attempting to escape from plaits in their designs for spring sport dresses. They are replacing the sharply defined plaits with deep folds which open to give ease when walking. Rows of buttons are being coming a trimming feature.
Purses and bags now may be secured to match the exact shade of practically any costume. These are of celluloid which can be colored any tint. They are lined so that it is impossible to tell how much money the bearer is carrying within.

Adventures Of The Twins
Two Spot, the Butterfly
"Won't you come with us on an adventure?" begged Nancy.
The Fairy Queen smiled. "Why?" she said. "Aren't you having a good time?"
"Oh yes indeed," said Nancy. "But we want you to go with us. If we are going to have an adventure."
The Fairy Queen looked very much pleased. "Well, my dears," she said, "that is why I sent for you. That is exactly what I am going to do. I am going on an adventure with you."
It had all happened this way, you see.
That morning when the Twins, Nancy and Nick, woke up they had found the magic green shoes beside their beds.
They knew the magic shoes by sight because they had had them on before and many a good time they had had in them.
Jumping out of bed now, they dressed and slipped them on and scarcely were their heels set on the floor before whiff! whiff! they were standing in the mother of pearl hall of the Fairy Queen's palace.
And there right at the head of the pink coral stairs stood the Fairy Queen herself, wand and all.
"Yes I am going with you," she repeated and clapped her hands three times.
Nimble Toes came tumbling and kneeling down and bowed his head on the ground before her.
"See that my biggest and fastest butterfly is caught and saddled right away," commanded the Queen. "One big enough ought to carry three passengers. Get Fox Spot."
"Yes, Your Highness," said Nimble Toes disappearing at once.
"Are we going to ride on a butterfly?" asked Nick.
"Come and see," said the Fairy Queen going down the coral stairs and taking them by the hand.
Down the long hall they went and out of the front door that was opened by two fairies.
There right in front of the steps stood Nimble Toes beside an enormous butterfly all bridled and saddled and waiting to go. The wings of blue velvet kept going slowly up and down as though to say "Just see how hand some we are. Please admire our fine golden spots."
"Yes! Two spots was certainly hand some from his long black horns to the tail of his scaly coat. All black and blue and gold was he, with touches of rose at the edge of his wings."
"Hop on," commanded the Fairy Queen.
"Oh, no!" said Nick. "Ladies first!"
So the Twins and Nimble Toes helped her on, and then Nancy and Nick scrambled on behind.
It may surprise you to read that a little boy and girl could ride on a butterfly, even a large one, but that's because I haven't told you all about the magic shoes.
The magic green shoes could make the persons who wore them as light as air. No matter where the person wanted to go the shoes saw to it.

Rubbing the other eye sometimes is effective.
If the substance is adhered to the lid, turn the lid back by rolling it over a pencil or the finger and then remove the particle with a soft silk handkerchief.
For particles of dust or cinders in the eye try flaxseed. If other attempts fail. Two or three grains should be placed in the corner of the eye.
The seeds soon swell and exude a nutritious substance that covers the ball of the eye, and envelopes any foreign substance that may be in it.

Formula of 1924
For Phillips' Dental Magnesia
Magnesia and three other antacids
Antiseptics—four of them—to combat germ attacks.
Iodine—for the gums.
Cleansers—made of fruit oil.
Polishers—to whiten teeth.
Deodorants—for the breath.
16 ingredients.

Sleep Tonight
With magnesia around your teeth
Acid forms constantly around and between your teeth. It is due to food fermentation that acid destroys enamel, and it leads to tooth decay.
The vital thing in tooth protection is to fight that acid. And magnesia is the best way. A touch of magnesia neutralizes acid.
Before you sleep tonight, force magnesia into every crevice. Then acids can't exist. Tomorrow morning you will awake with a mouth sweet, pure and clean.
Use a super-magnesia
We are the makers of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, standard with dentists for 50 years. But that washes away. So we have made a magnesia which penetrates the crevices and stays. It is embodied in a tooth paste, called Phillips' Dental Magnesia.
It is combined with three other antacids. Whenever you use it, you place all of them on guard against the great foe of teeth. There is nothing else one-tenth so important in a dental application.
Does these things, too
Phillips' Dental Magnesia does more than that. It comprises what is known as the Formula of 1924. That is the formula evolved by four great organizations to meet all the modern requirements.
There are four antiseptics to combat germ attacks on the gums. There is iodine—the great protection against pyorrhea. There is a fruit-oil cleanser—the best we know. And two polishing agents, safe and efficient, to whiten and beautify teeth.
There are also deodorants to insure a purer, sweeter breath. So here you obtain all the helps you might get from a dozen applications.
The tooth paste of today
This is the tooth paste of today. It applies magnesia in the ideal form. It applies cleansers and polishers, antiseptics and deodorants—all the best beautifiers and protectors science knows.
We urge you to learn at once its pleasant and complete effects. It will amaze and delight you. Never again will you employ a tooth paste which does less.
Your druggist now has Phillips' Dental Magnesia. Ask for a tube, and you will gain results you never knew before. A dozen results essential to fine teeth.

LETTER FROM RUTH BURKE, TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CONTINUED
Miss Anderson said she really felt sorry for Priscilla Bradford, Leslie, when your mother-in-law seemed to repudiate all responsibility for her room rent. Although she knew all the trouble that old maid had caused, she realized that she was alone, and that fifty dollars meant a great deal to her.
When she told me about the fracas she said she had been around many men and women, in her nursing experience, who had prided themselves on their Puritan ancestry, and who of the outstanding characteristics which they all had in common was their horror of debt.
"Of course," she said, "I knew Miss Bradford must have some money because she spends so little, and I had heard Mrs. Prescott say she had been left quite comfortable, but it did not keep her from almost heart-breaking worry to have to dip into her savings and pay this bill, which I am sure is more for a room than she has ever paid before in her life, for the same number of weeks, let alone days."
"Mrs. Prescott did not fail to call 'dear Priscilla's' attention that it was only room rent she was supposed to pay, as all meals for the three of us had been charged on her bill," said Miss Anderson, "but that did not seem to comfort the lady much."
Anyway, Miss Anderson worked on my sympathies to such an extent that I paid the bill and charged it to your account with the shop.
Miss Bradford left without bidding your mother goodbye, and so, my dear, that's that. You are safe from her for a while at least.
By the way, we are still making big money at the shop. Since I have become Mrs. Burke, more people than ever have stepped in to buy lingerie of me, and they all want me to wait on them. You would be surprised to know how curious they all are about my little affairs. I never knew before I was of so much importance.
Yesterday a woman said to me: "I suppose your husband will give up traveling now, and sell his yacht?"
For moment I was so surprised I forgot she was a total stranger and answered: "I do not know why

EVENING GOWN
Brown lace and brown chiffon, relieved with gold and with a touch of brilliant orange makes a very smart evening gown.
SEVERE LOOKING
The more severe looking you can make your costume these days the smarter you look. Straight lines are much preferred to marcelled ones.
JEWEL CASES
Jewel cases of fine leather are beautifully lined with velvet and have many trays and receptacles for holding jewels.
ATTRACTIVE VEST
A most attractive little vest is made of squares of white and gold satin sewed together like a patch work quilt. Peeping out from a tailored suit it is most intriguing.
SLIPPERS
Slippers now match the evening frocks in color though they may be of velvet, satin or kid.

I Sell the Flavor —in Coffee

Flavor isn't an indefinite thing. It's a definite thing. The trouble is it hasn't been standardized.

Sugar, for example, is standardized. Every sugar contains the same amount of sweetness actually measured. But the beets or the cane that it comes from are a long way from standardized. One beet will have 8% of sugar and another will have 17%.

You'd hate like everything to pay the same price for beets and then try to get the sugar out yourself.

Perhaps this illustration of sugar will give you some idea of why there can be such a wide range in coffee.

It doesn't mean anything to buy coffee beans or ground coffee by the pound, unless you know how much coffee flavor they contain.

It is my business to see to it that when you buy Webb coffee you get 50 cups of full flavor to the pound. And when you get that you are paying the lowest price for coffee flavor that there is on the market.

NEENAH HIGHS INVADE APPLETON FRIDAY EVENING

Orange Quintet Due For Hard Battle In Search For Revenge

Game With Twin City Visitors Will Be Marked by First Public Appearance of Band

Neenah high school is due to clash with a stronger Appleton team here Friday night than met defeat at the Twin Cities two weeks ago, for all the Orange regulars are on deck and going strong. In the previous contest Courtney and Ashman, two of the mainstays of the Appleton team were out and Neenah found the Orange quintet an easy victim. Since that time, however, Appleton defeated Fond du Lac, considered the strongest team in the Fox River valley high school conference.

Courtney Barlow's seconds will clash with the Neenah seconds in the opener, and this game also is expected to be a thriller. Barlow has developed a team which in many ways is nearly the equal of the regulars, and has won most of its games.

The return game with Neenah will be made a gala occasion, marked by the first appearance of the Appleton high school band. The youthful musicians have been practicing diligently and have accomplished marvelous results. This and the intense rivalry between the two schools is expected to fill Armory G to capacity Friday night. Neenah will send a large delegation of rooters, and the Appleton cheering section will be on deck full strength.

Under the coaching of George Christoph, former Lawrence basketball captain, Neenah has acquired the strongest aggregation of cagers it has had in years, and for the first time in more than a decade is able to boast a victory over Appleton. Although the Orange played with a badly crippled team, the defeat rankles, and the youngsters are determined to wipe out the score.

Rumors that Fraser, one of the Appleton stars, had been suspended, were denied by school officials Friday morning, and prospects were every regular would be in the starting lineup. With Fraser and Bowby at forward, Ashman at center, and Courtney and Pfefferle at guard, the Orange were looking forward to a decisive victory over the visitors.

HILBERT BOWS TO EASTERN QUINTET

All Home Five Drops Hot Contest to New York Nationals, 40-31

Hilbert—New York Nationals Thursday evening defeated the Hilbert All Home quintet, 40 to 31, in the best exhibition of basketball ever seen here. The Nationals are reputed to be one of the best professional five on the Atlantic coast, and they showed their stuff to a good advantage here. Every man on the team was tall and rangy, the center standing over six feet in his socks. All of them were fast and knew the game backwards.

The Nationals climbed off the train, went directly to the hall, got into their suits and declared themselves ready to go. They showed a puzzling effort which it was impossible to stop. Yerko and Schutte did the scoring, with an uncanny eye for baskets.

The Hilbert boys played a wonderful game but were outclassed. The lineups:

- Nationals: R. F. Colgan, Eldridge R. F. F. Kelly, O. Holland, Ordegg L. F. C. G. Yerkes, Suttner R. G. L. G. Schulte, Herneke L. G.

RUSSELL BEATS VERBRICK IN BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

RITOLA STANDS OUT AS CHIEF RIVAL OF PHENOMINAL PAAVO

Finnish-American Marvel Break Record Set by Countryman

By Associated Press
Buffalo, N. Y.—Ville Ritola, a stouthearted Finnish-American distance runner, stands out Friday more prominently than ever as the one competitor having a chance to stop the victorious march of his fellow countryman, Paavo Nurmi.

Competing in the feature events of the 106th Regiment indoor games Thursday night, Ritola, in one of the most sensational races of his career, smashed Nurmi's two-mile record to bits after a peerless Paavo himself had sped to three new world's indoor marks in a race at one mile and a quarter that inaugurated another three night program for the Finnish marvel.

Friday night Nurmi races at Syracuse university, then goes to the New York A. C. games Saturday night. Both racers Thursday night were triumphant by decisive margins but Ritola's performance was the more impressive. Setting a phenomenal pace over the eight lap flat track, Ritola covered the distance in the astonishing time of 9:03.45. This mark not only was four and one fifth seconds faster than Nurmi's record but nearly six seconds better than the world's outdoor standard held by Alfred Shrubbs, famous Englishman, and set in 1924.

Nurmi's new record bringing his total up to 22 in 16 races, and the former marks, all held by himself, follow: 2,000 yards (new record) 4:53.3-5, former record 5:00.4-5, 2,000 meters (new record) 5:22.2-5, former records, 5:33.1-4 miles (new record) 5:23.4-5; former record, 5:30.1-5.

WAUPACA PLANS WRESTLING CARD

Waupaca—Wrestling fans here will be treated to a classy menu on Wednesday, Feb. 18, when George Hills of Appleton grapples Young Romanoff of Gary, Ind., in the head liner of a big card. The men have signed contracts and posted forfeits and everything is ready for the match. The bout will be a finish at fair under Police Gazette rules, with no time limit. Judging from the size of the crowd which appeared when Hills and Romanoff were scheduled to meet here last week and Romanoff failed to appear, standing room will be sold out before the program starts.

Bobby McLaughlin and Young Huffcutt will meet in the semi-main event. McLaughlin is a Waupaca man and has a big following here.

HOEPPLE WINS FROM M'COY IN CUE MATCH

Hoepple Thursday night defeated McCoy, 100 to 92, in their pocket billiard contest at the Carr, Hansen and Plindle parlors. As a result of his victory Hoepple is considered the favorite to win the Fox River valley tournament of which the match was a part. Hoepple made a high run of 18.

The next match will be played Friday evening H. Luethen and H. Oaks will meet this game.

Cobb Predicts Pennant

Detroit Manager Smiles as He Dopes Out His Team's Chances to Win Championship

TYRUS RAYMOND COBB

Here is the latest picture of Tyrus Raymond Cobb, baseball's greatest player. It was snapped after a recent interview in which Cobb announced Detroit would win the pennant in 1925.

From the smile, it would seem that Cobb isn't doing much worrying during the winter. However, it is noticeable that age is beginning to exact its toll. He's growing a bit portly.

No longer is Cobb the menace he once was on the bases. Recently he stated that he did not intend to play in more than 100 games the coming season.

Five Big Ten Athletes Make All-Star Team

Chicago — Big Ten universities placed five athletes on the All-America track and field team for 1924. Michigan and Iowa had two and Illinois one.

De Hart Hubbard, sensational colored star, and Jim Brooker were the Michigan representatives. Hubbard was nominated in the running broad jump and Brooker in the pole vault. Brooker, in the 220 and low hurdles, and Wilson in the quarter mile, were the Hawkeyes to make the grade. Illinois' contribution was Dan Kinsey in the 120-yard high hurdle event.

Another middle westerner selected was Tom Poor of the University of Kansas. Poor got on in the high jump.

New York—For the first time in 35 years a pointer, Champion Governor Moscow was chosen the best dog in the Westminster dog show.

Hills Will Grapple Pittsburgh Wrestler On Double Menu Here

Hassan Volkoff and Young Romanoff, Gary, Ind., on Other Half of Big Program

George Hills will grapple Andre Anderson of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Hassan Volkoff is slated to meet Young Romanoff, Gary, Ind., in the double roundup of the wrestling card scheduled for Armory G here on Tuesday, Feb. 17. This announcement was made by Elmer Johnston, Appleton promoter, Thursday after he had wired all over the country in his search for competent opponents for Hills and Volkoff. While Volkoff still was suffering from a minor injury received in his recent match with Hills here, he expected to be back into condition in time to meet Romanoff and accepted the match.

Volkoff gave Hills a good tussle here and drew much applause. He has been in America for several years and plans to work his way up to bouts with some of the big men in the game in an effort to get a crack at the world's championship.

Andre Anderson, a Norwegian, by birth, also has been in this country for some time, but the only time he has appeared in Wisconsin was in Milwaukee. He stands six feet four inches in his socks and tips the scales at 238 pounds. He has been appearing chiefly in the east and south, where he established a formidable record, according to reports Norway produces some hardy specimens and Anderson is a fine example. He learned the game in his native Norway, and when he became sufficiently popular over there to attract the attention of American promoters, he was brought across the water.

STRONG AND SKILLFUL
The big Norseman possesses skill as well as great strength, and Hills will have all he can do to hold up his end of the match. Anderson has been in America long enough to learn all the tricks as they are in vogue here besides his knowledge of the game as it is practiced in Europe.

Volkoff and Romanoff are doped as quite evenly matched. The former showed his stuff to a good advantage in his match with Hills here several weeks ago, and won a host of friends by his cleverness and grit.

This will be the first double windup wrestling card ever staged in Appleton, and is expected to go over big.

COE BEATS BELOIT, 25-20, ON EVE OF LAWRENCE BATTLE

Outcome of Game Indicates Hot Contest Here Saturday Afternoon

Coe college Thursday night added another scalp to its belt when the Iowa collegians defeated Beloit, 25 to 20, on its home court. Lawrence basketball fans were watching for the outcome of this game to get a line on the probable chances of Lawrence Saturday afternoon. Lawrence nosed out Beloit, 25 to 23, in their contest here on Feb. 6, and had to extend itself to the limit to do so. A long shot with 25 seconds to go gave the Lawrentians the game.

The outcome of the Coe-Beloit battle seems to indicate a close contest for Lawrence. The fact that Coe is due to clash with Ripon Friday night before meeting Lawrence on its home court Saturday should have given the Blue a considerable advantage, but the loss of a regular through Cupid's machinations offsets any advantage Lawrence may have had. Neither Coe nor Lawrence has lost a Little Eight conference game so far this season, and rivalry is bound to be intense when the two clash.

Coe is said to have the strongest scoring aggregation known in the Little Eight in several years. The two Lumb brothers and Stuehlik, running guard, have been starring for the Iowans, and will bear a lot of watching when they come here.

according to Johnston. The last mat card drew better than was expected in spite of the sleet storm which made the roads almost impassable to automobiles, and if the weather remains pleasant, Johnston expects to crowd the armory to capacity.

DIPLOMAT CHILDREN WEAR THEIR NATIVE COSTUMES

Rather funny looking dresses these. Yet they were the height of style when this picture was taken back in 1907. For the photo was made on Fifth Avenue New York, then which there is no street in the world that has more better dressed women walking its sidewalks. How the world do change.

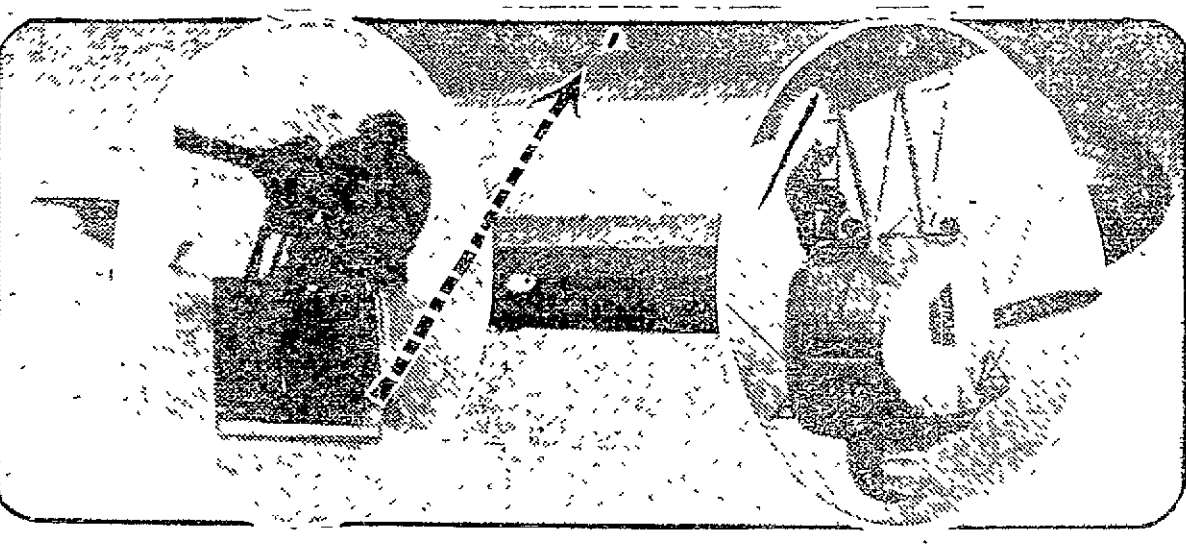

Though they live in Washington and when they appear in public they dress as Americans do in their homes the children of many of the foreign diplomats in Washington wear the dress of their native land. Here are six bright youngsters from far off Europe, as they appear at home. From left to right they are Luidmila McCully, adopted daughter of Rear Admiral McCully, formerly a daughter of a Russian representative who was adopted by the rear admiral when he was in Russia; Gladys Szecheny, daughter of the Hungarian minister; Eva and Dagnar Kuraz, daughters of the secretary of the Czechoslovakian legation; Sylvia Szecheny, another daughter of the Hungarian minister; and Nimet Youssy Pasha, daughter of the Egyptian minister.

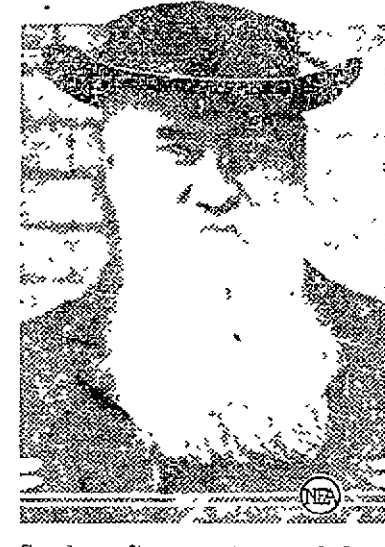

Citizens of Haileville, Okla., were thrown into a panic when the Y. M. C. A. dropped three feet on its foundations into a tunnel of the abandoned Hailey Okla. mine. The building is being saved by props.

Miss Lada Watson, Kansas Wheat Girl, presents President Coolidge with what Kansas claims is the best wheat in the world—Kansas wheat.

Scenes aboard the dirigible Los Angeles one mile up showing hazards encountered in shooting movies of the recent big snow staged by sun and moon. Inset at left is A. K. Peterson, chief photographer for the "S. Navy" in his "crow's nest" atop the alrship. Arrow points to position at which he was stationed while at right is Lieutenant W. L. Richardson, in charge of naval aviation photographers, coming down ladder into power car at the height of several thousand feet to take a few pictures.

Sunday afternoon teas and dancing must go. They are shocking and irreverent. Thus decries Archbishop Matheron, Anglican primate of Canada who is shocked at the goings on of Winnipeg and Vancouver women who give tea dances on Sunday.

Jack Frost may bite out toes and noses, but he sends along snow to afford entertainment for those brave enough to venture out. These Quebec folks have found that a little slip now and then is lots of fun and are enjoying the snow banks on skis and with tip tops.

Why Live In The Age of Yesterday?

Yesterday

Modern science has brought forth countless time and labor savers. No matter where you turn, in the office, the shop or on the farm you find devices designed to do the work of a man, quicker and faster.

There is the woman's workshop. Surely she deserves an equal right to do that which will help her in her work of the day.

By calling 1005 we will gladly send a man without obligation who will demonstrate to you the Torrington Vacuum Cleaner, guaranteed to cut in half one of the hardest tasks in the home.

SAVING MONEY AND TIME—At The Same Time

Don't forget that the classified section is a saver of both time and money. The Post-Crescent's A-B-C Ads are alphabetically and numerically arranged—to make selection as simple as "A-B-C" or as quick as "1-2-3."

And the firms who offer things and services through the classified columns nearly always quote unusually low prices to stimulate quick action among the buyers they want to reach.

That—in a nutshell—is the economy story of the A-B-C Classified Section. And that is easily enough to make discriminating and economical folks heed the classified offers daily.

But to look at it from another angle—think of the opportunities you miss if you do not read the classified ads! Think of the money you do NOT save! Think of the difficulty you will have in competing with your keener friends.

Think it over from every angle! There is no reason in the world why you should not read the classified offers and every reason why you should.

ERVIN HANTSCHER MADE OFFICER OF FOX FUR CONCERN

Half Million Dollar Corporation of Fond du Lac May Start
Farm Here

Ervin Hantscher of this city is one of the incorporators of a half million dollar fur farming concern which has been launched under Delaware laws and will operate in Wisconsin. He is vice president and treasurer of the United States Consolidated Fox and Fur corporation, which has established its main offices at 65 S. Main-st., Fond du Lac.

Appleton probably will be the location of one of the farms which will be established at various Wisconsin places for the breeding and raising of silver black foxes for their fur. Sale of memberships in the company has been started by a corps of 50 salesmen and as soon as 100 members are obtained here or 20 pairs of foxes sold, property will be acquired for a farm. Farms will be located at other places on this same basis.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hardgrave of Fond du Lac are the other members of the corporation. Mr. Hardgrave is president and Mrs. Hardgrave is secretary. The authorized capital stock is $500,000, divided into 50,000 shares at a par value of $10 each. The company will commence business with 1,000 shares. Authorization is given in the charter to conduct silver fox farms and farms for raising of any other furbearing animals.

Mr. Hantscher declares that the corporation has taken over the fox farm located at Watertown and will use this as ranch No. 1 of a group scattered over this state. Only animals of the highest pedigree will be used for breeding. Each member who enrolls in the corporation will be given a pair of foxes. They will be kept at the nearest farm and the member will realize a profit either from sale of pelts or the live animals as they are bred.

CHILD LABOR BURDEN PLACE ON EMPLOYER

Absolute responsibility for the lawful employment of children is imposed upon employers of the Child Labor law, according to a pamphlet received by H. H. Hellig, permit distributor for this district, from the Wisconsin Industrial Commission. If a minor of permit age is employed without a labor permit, the law is violated and the employer is responsible. In such a case neither the Industrial Commission nor anyone else can relieve the employer of the responsibility provided by law, the pamphlet says. Employers also are warned that while there is no provision for issuing labor permits to persons over 17, there are certain employment which are prohibited to persons under 21, others to persons under 18 and others to persons under 16. A labor permit does not authorize the employment of a child to whom it is issued in a prohibited employment, and an employer is always responsible to keep the employment of a child within the terms of the labor permit, the pamphlet stated. Mr. Hellig expects to receive several more articles on this subject for the aid of employers and working children in the near future.

CROWLEY, NOTRE DAME STAR, VISITS HOME

Jim Crowley, one of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame and picked by many experts for back field positions on their All-American teams, arrived in Green Bay, his home, on Saturday for a short visit. Only a small group composed of his closest friends welcomed the "Pride of Green Bay" when the train pulled in due to a request by his mother that the elaborate reception which had been planned for him be postponed. According to those who were at the depot, the football star seemed in excellent condition.

Crowley has not been confined to his home, but has been up and around ever since his return. Plans are being made for his entertainment while he is in the city. These probably will include a banquet and celebration to which Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame coach, and other members of the famous backfield quartet will be invited.

This will be the first public appearance of the band since its organization in the fall under the direction of G. Bernard Reinken.

WATCH NUMBERS TO CATCH DELINQUENTS

Secretary of State Receiving
4,500 License Applications Daily

Madison—Ten thousand dollars was paid into the state treasury during January from 1924 automobile licenses which were checked through the operation of the statute requiring every application for the 1925 license to give the date of purchase of the car and the last license number, according to Fred Zimmerman, secretary of state.

"Under the present regulations," Mr. Zimmerman said, "the license goes with the car, and it is impossible for any automobile owner to transfer plates from one car to another inasmuch as each old number reported is checked against the name to which it was originally granted, and if they do not agree, the payment of a 1924 license fee is required."

"A considerably larger number of licensees have already been applied for this year than were registered at this time last year as the result of the campaign of the license department to influence people to apply early. The peak of incoming applications was reached about the middle of January when 10,000 applications were handled in one day. At the present time, the department is receiving only about 4,500 a day."

"People have been aided in making applications for licenses this year by five inspectors who travel over the state, giving advance notification in the newspapers of each city the visit that they will be at the police station to accept applications for automobile licenses."

Now that the rush for licensees is not so great in the department, efforts will be made to again stimulate the car driving public to apply for licenses now rather than wait until spring. Tags have been sent out to police departments throughout the state and cars running under a 1924 license will be tagged as a warning to the owner that he is disobeying the law driving under an old license.

Glands Must Be Fed by Glands

New Health, New Youth Returns

Some of the greatest results in modern medicine come through using gland secretions.

The liver is the largest, most important gland. Ox gall is used to stimulate it as no drugs can do. Countless people gain results which seem amazing in this new-day way.

More Bile Needed

The liver should supply a quart of bile per day. A torpid liver does not. Then comes indigestion, constipation. Bile checks germ growth in the intestines. When it is scant, germs multiply and feed a stream of poisons to the blood.

Heart and kidney troubles are often traced to those poisons. Also high blood pressure and premature old age. There are countless people who might gain new health if that poison supply were stopped.

See What Ox Gall Does

Try ox gall for a few days. The results are prompt and they may amaze you. Perhaps all you need is a stimulated liver. If so, no drugs can do what ox gall does.

But get real ox gall. Do not be deceived. Ask your druggist for Dioxol tablets. Each one contains ten drops of purified ox gall.

Remember that name—Dioxol. Try it for your own sake. There are multitudes of people whom Dioxol can help. To some the results are priceless.

Spring Fashions

Our buyers returned from New York City last Monday. The new apparel they bought there is now arriving daily in great stacks of boxes. You should be among the first to see these lovely things as they are unpacked from their tissue wrappings. New Spring frocks and coats, ensembles and blouses are now on display.

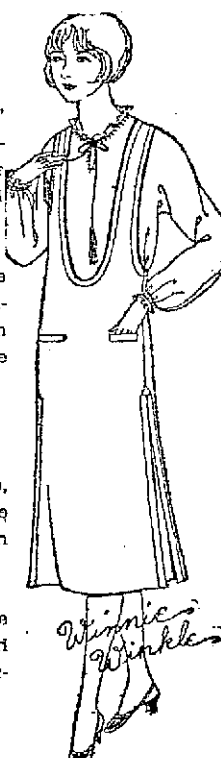

The apparel section is not the only department filled with hints of Spring. There are the smart Deauville sets, the new and colorful hankies, the original perfumes, the many lovely new accessories on the First Floor.

Pettibone's yard goods sections have also burst into the colorings of Spring. Flanneles and satins in the smartest of plain shades are shown side by side with the popular prints. Woolens and cottons are equally new.

Every department of Pettibone's is filled with constantly arriving Spring merchandise. These new showings arrive daily, and should be seen daily.
